

DEMANDS COAL STRIKE BE AVERTED

STATE STREET CAR LINE TO BE DISCUSSED

Franchise For Its Operation Will Expire During Middle of September

TO BE CONTINUED: Some People Object to Continuing Car Line, While Others Favor It

The franchise for operation of the street car line from the downtown section to the state capitol will be before the city commission in the near future. The present franchise under which Main and Fourth Streets are used by the state in the operation of the line will expire about the middle of September, and the question of whether or not the line should be continued in the future is being discussed in various quarters. There are some property owners on Fourth street who would be very glad to see the line discontinued altogether. Although the street has been paved, money has never been provided by the state legislature for paving between the tracks. This has been the cause of some objections raised by property owners who feel that since they paid heavy assessments to get part of the street paved the state ought to pave between the street car tracks.

There also has been some objection raised because of the frequency of near accidents, especially in collisions between automobiles and the car. On the part of the state there is said to be a desire on the part of some officials to seek some other method of transportation, since there is an annual deficit of $6,000 to $8,000 in the line. Should the line be abandoned it is felt some method for transportation by motor cars or buses would have to be arranged for state employees. There has been advanced a suggestion that the car be not operated in the summer but be operated during the winter. A great number of employees who walk or use their own automobiles in the summer depend on the street car during the winter.

While there appears a deficit each year, there also are some who believe that the state ought to maintain the transportation service for the employees and visitors to the capitol, and argue that since the capitol must maintain a power plant for heating and lighting it can without great additional expense in the winter operate the car line.

The new Memorial building was wired for electricity by the local electric utility. The electricity for the capitol building now is furnished by the state's own power plant.

A bill was passed by the legislature two years ago intended to make possible a consolidation of the electric and heating plants for the prison and state capitol, and also to permit the state to maintain a White Way system on the Bismarck Memorial bridge paved road and to light the bridge. Under the governmental regulations, federal-state highways must be maintained by the state.

FIND $40,000 THEFT FROM GRAIN HOUSE

Employee, Not Named, Worked With an Accomplice, Company Head Asserts

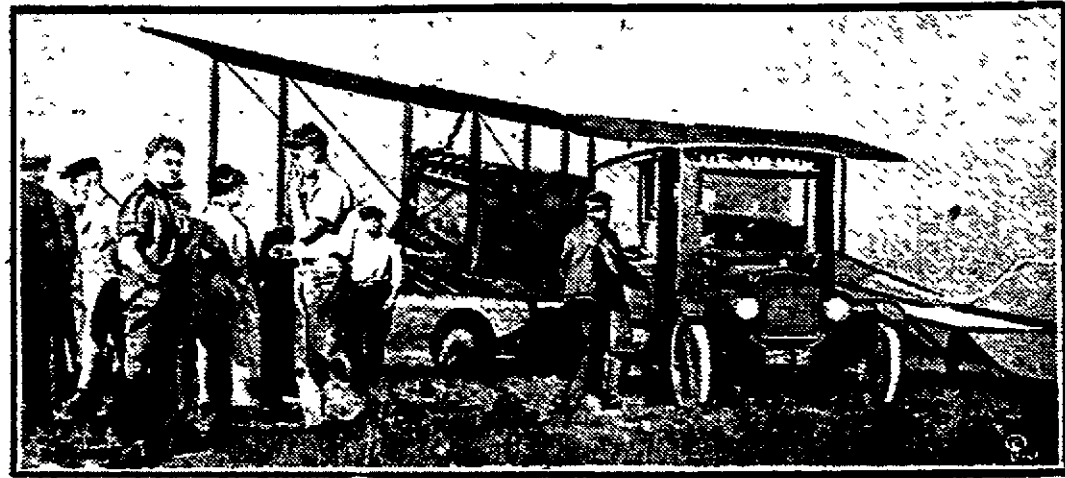

Minneapolis, Aug. 27.—Theft of at least $40,000 in the accounts of the McCarthy Brothers Grain Company has been revealed by an audit of the concern's books, according to an announcement of H. McCarthy, president of the company today. The audit was made following the disappearance of an employee of the firm. Search for this employee has been instituted by the Maryland Casualty Company but as yet no warrant for his arrest has been asked. The audit is being continued by Mr. McCarthy and he said the shortage may amount to between $50,000 and $75,000.

According to Mr. McCarthy the employee worked with an accomplice in the Chamber of Commerce, selling grain at the highest quotations of the day's business and entering the transactions on the company's record as the lowest of the day. The difference, it was said, probably was divided between the men.

69 Students To Finish At Minot Normal August 31

Minot, Aug. 27.—Sixty-nine students will receive diplomas from the Minot Normal on August 31 when the graduating exercises will formally close to the 1923 summer term. It was announced today by President George A. McFarland. Hon. R. B. Murphy, a member of the state board of administration, has accepted an invitation to be present, give the commencement address and present the diplomas. Further details of the program are under consideration at the present time. The exercises will be held at 11 a. m.

FINDS DETROIT WORRIED OVER M. O. DEFICIT

Editor of Jim Jam Jems Also Hears Magnus Johnson Discussed Freely in Chicago

Detroit is all "het up" over a deficit of $50,000 in the July operating expenses of the municipal street railway. According to Wallace Campbell, editor of Jim Jam Jems, who returned this morning from a trip to the Twin Cities, Chicago and the Michigan metropolis. The deficit in the municipal street car lines of Detroit is claimed to be caused by a recently raised wage scale of employees, he said.

Mr. Campbell found many people in Chicago and Detroit much interested in the Magnus Johnson victory for senator in Minnesota. There, he said the victory is regarded as a precursor of elections in other states, a sort of a hand-writing on the wall. The farm bloc is taken more seriously than ever before, and there is a more general recognition among business men that general prosperity cannot last unless the middle-west farmer is prosperous, he said. The agricultural situation is now taken seriously, he added.

Mr. Campbell found much talk of Henry Ford for president, he said, but added that no one knew what Ford would do except Ford himself, and Ford is now on a camping trip in the wilds of Michigan. There is much sentiment for Ford in Detroit and throughout Michigan, he said.

While in Chicago Mr. Campbell and Sam Clark visited Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Patterson at the Presbyterian hospital. Mrs. Patterson was very cheerful and hopes soon to return home, he said.

Mr. Campbell reports the publishing business as optimistic. He went to Detroit to attend to the proposed third edition of their Federal Reserve book being distributed from there. The third edition will make a total issue of 80,000 copies.

BOBBED HAIR TO BE PASSE, DECLARATION

New York, Aug. 27.—Bobbed hair must go, the National Hairdressers' association, which will hold its third annual convention in this city September 10, because the style was ruined when it was adopted by women over 30, it is declared. The bobbed hair fapper is all right but the present long skirt decreed for older women, not harmonize with trimmed locks.

LIGNITE MEN ARE PLANNING GATHERINGS

Would Impress Upon Business Men of State Importance of Industry

A series of educational meetings will be held by the North Dakota Lignite Coal Operators Association in the state, probably the last week of September or first week in October, at the same time district meetings of the operators are held, according to James Milloy of Minot, secretary of the association. State officials, including Governor Neustrom, Railroad Commission Chairman Milhollan, Commissioner of Agriculture Kitchen, President Coulter of the Agricultural College, Dean Babcock of the state university and Commissioner of Immigration Devine, will be invited to attend part or all of the meetings.

The purpose of the meetings, according to Mr. Milloy, is to reach business men with complete information as to the problems of the lignite coal industry so as to gain more general cooperation in its development. The operators' association, he added, was formed only for the purpose of developing the industry generally.

GRAND JURY ASKED SOON

Shafer Tells Plan After Conference With Bangs

Grand Forks, Aug. 27.—After a conference with George A. Bangs, special assistant attorney general, Attorney General George Shafer said today that a petition for a grand jury in Cass county to probe the alleged wrecking of the Scandinavian-American bank of Fargo would probably be presented to District Judge C. M. Cooley on or about September 1. This action has been made necessary by the action of District Judge George McKenna in dismissing indictments returned by the recent grand jury in Cass county.

1923 WHEAT FINE QUALITY

Some Yields of 12 to 15 Bushels an Acre Reported Near Here

Wheat delivered to the Russell-Miller Milling Company's elevator in Bismarck is generally of very fine quality, H. C. Bjerk, manager of the mill said today. The gluten content is reported unusually high not only in this vicinity but in other parts of the state. Most of the wheat, Mr. Bjerk said, graded from No. 1 to No. 3. Practically all wheat delivered to the mill thus far has been early-sown wheat. Some yields of 12 to 15 bushels an acre of Marquis wheat have been reported. The average is expected to be less. The late-sown wheat will not come in much before September 1, it is expected.

JUDGE HOLDS BAR BOARD ACT TO BE VALID

Supreme Court May Appoint Members and Lawyers Fund May Be Used

The act of the 1923 legislature taking power of appointing members of the State Bar Board from the Governor and giving it to the supreme court is held constitutional, in a memorandum opinion of District Judge Fred Jansoni, made today. Whether the district court has the authority to appoint members of the bar board is the question. The act of the legislature appropriating $10,000 from funds of the Bar Board to be used in the purchase and repair of books for the supreme court library was not unconstitutional.

The State Bar Board, composed of C. J. Fisk, S. E. Ellsworth and R. Goer, had obtained an order restraining E. J. Taylor, librarian; J. H. Newton, clerk of the supreme court, and the state auditor and treasurer from expending the money appropriated. The bar board fund is created from the annual license fee paid by lawyers.

Judge Jansoni found that since it is provided the supreme court shall appoint members of the Bar Board from lawyers of the Bar association the question naturally arises whether the district court has the jurisdiction in the matter. For the purpose of permitting the case to be finally decided, however, he put aside questions of jurisdiction. The court held that the Bar Board is really an agency of the supreme court and therefore the constitutional provisions which prohibit appointive power being lodged in the supreme court does not obtain.

DR. GILMORE TO FT. BERTHOLD

Engaged in Work for Museum of the American Indian

Dr. M. R. Gilmore, former curator of the State Historical Society, has gone to the Fort Berthold Indian reservation, after stopping in Bismarck for a brief time on his return from McGregor, Iowa, where he has been an instructor in the summer school in Indian lore at the American School of Wild Life Protection. Dr. Gilmore's work on home economies of Indians on the Missouri river, which he is engaged in for the Museum of the American Indian, will carry him into many states along the Missouri river.

At Fort Berthold Dr. Gilmore will continue work he had already started with the Indians. Among other things he will collect pottery, articles of clothing and household decoration, dyes and perfumes, and gather information about the home life of the Indians whom the first white men to ascend the Missouri river found living in villages and tilling cornfields along its banks.

FORKS FARMERS BUYING SHEEP

Grand Forks, N. D., Aug. 25.—Grand Forks county farmers are buying sheep in considerable numbers, according to D. B. Morris, county agent. The reason for this is the attractive prices which the animals bring and their value for cleaning up farms.

Slope Field Yields 30 Bu. To The Acre

With threshing just started, indications are that the wheat crop will be much better than expected, says A. P. Nyden of Hebron, writing to The Tribune. Herman Glass, six miles north of Hebron, reported 30 bushels of wheat on some ground. "Not so bad," opines Mr. Nyden.

SHOOTING IN DUBLIN WHILE PEOPLE VOTE

Election of Members of Free State Parliament Is Being Held Today

MOTOR CAR ATTACKED

Two Cabinet Members Escape—Free State Forces Are Expecting Victory

Dublin, Aug. 27 (By the A. P.).—A lively outbreak of rifle and machine gun fire occurred in Dublin early today. The shooting was not explained. Balloting in the Dail election proceeded with National troops patrolling the streets. A motor car carrying James Cowley and the Minister of Fisheries Finian Lynch, both of whom are candidates of the government for Kerry, was attacked by a crowd while passing through Linlath yesterday. Shots were fired and one man was seriously injured.

Voting in the Dail elections began throughout the Irish Free State at 9 o'clock today with an electorate of more than 1,750,000 eligible to cast their ballots. Nearly 600,000 of this number are new voters, most of them being young and of both sexes.

The day is a public holiday and makes possible the closing of the polls at 7 o'clock.

In Dublin there are labor candidates of both the regular and Larkin wings. The Dublin sheriff does not expect to be able to announce any results before Tuesday night and possibly not even then unless all candidates waive formal comparison of all votes cast with voting papers issued. It is likely to be Wednesday night before Dublin returns are tabulated and delay in the scattered country constituency is expected to be even greater.

Supporters of the government party have shown increased confidence daily and it is now believed this group will secure the largest bloc in the new house. The Republicans rely on the new vote to better showing made by them in the last election when they took 86 seats.

GEORGE JOHNS DROPS DEAD

George Johns of Mandan, 57, dropped dead this morning at 8:30 o'clock while on his way to the Northern Pacific railroad in Mandan to go out on his run as conductor on the helper car. Mr. Johns had been suffering with heart trouble, physicians having advised him that his heart was weak. He had been employed on the railroad for many years and was well known not only in Mandan and Bismarck but along the line where he worked while performing his duties on the railroad. He leaves to mourn his death his wife and three children in addition to four brothers and one sister. Most of his brothers and sisters reside in Newcastle, Pa. Funeral services will be held in Bismarck and interment will be in the family lot. The time of the services have not yet been decided upon.

HUNT MEN WHO SPREAD TERROR IN SAVANNAH

Trio Rides Through Negro Settlement Shooting Wildly—One Is Killed

Savannah, Ga., Aug. 27.—City and county officials were combing East Savannah, a negro settlement, in search of a number of white men in three automobiles who drove through the settlement and fired more than 100 shots into houses, killing one negro according to reports and wounding others.

No motive for the firing is known. The men appeared suddenly and commenced shooting without warning, it is said. County policemen were rushed to East Savannah but were able to learn very little from the terrified negroes other than that the men in the three automobiles were white.

PLAN PROGRAM FOR CONGRESS TO AID FARMER

Representatives of Four States Gather in Minnesota City for Conference

ASK SPECIAL SESSION

Committee Probably Will Be Named to Carry Request to President at Washington

Wheaton, Minn., Aug. 27.—Representatives of the four grain growing midwest states gathered here today to prepare a program of agricultural legislation and to appoint a committee which will call upon President Coolidge with a view of urging him to call a special session of Congress for the purpose of enacting laws to aid agriculture.

The day is the crystallization of the price stabilization meetings held in North Dakota, and Minnesota the past two months and was called by F. V. Anderson, chairman of the voluntary state committee. The meetings were opened at 10 o'clock and will continue until late tonight. Magnus Johnson, senator-elect from Minnesota, was scheduled to make the principal address of the meeting late this afternoon. Other speakers will include J. F. Reed, president of the Minnesota Farm Federation, Mr. Anderson and W. J. Murphy of Wheaton, one of the leaders in the organization of the price stabilization committee.

POLICE HALT ATTACK UPON RICH YOUTH

Crowd Threatens Son of Chicago Business Man, Accused by Girl's Relatives

Chicago, Aug. 27.—Police were on guard today at the home of Max Adler, vice-president of the Sears-Roebuck Company, whose 24-year-old son, Cyrus Adler, narrowly escaped harsh treatment at the hands of angry relatives of a 16-year-old girl he was charged with attacking. Policeman Redman Gibbons waved his revolver threateningly at the crowd until a patrol wagon, came with reinforcements and took the young man to the station. Young Adler, a few minutes before, had backed out of the home of the girl's aunt with his own revolver pointing at the girl's relatives, who chased him for three blocks.

The girl's aunt, with whom she had been on a visit from her home in Milwaukee, filed charges of carrying concealed weapons, contributing to the delinquency of a minor and statutory offenses.

Saturday afternoon Adler called up the girl and Mrs. Lieberman asked him to come over. Fearing trouble, it is said, Adler carried along his revolver and narrowly escaped serious injury from the girl's relatives. Last Wednesday the girl's aunt, Mrs. Julia Lieberman told the police Adler and a girl invited the girl and a friend, strangers to them, to take a ride in Adler's automobile. The girls accepted.

CHARGE DISMISSED. Chicago, Aug. 27.—Judge Samuel Trude today dismissed a serious charge made against Cyrus Adler, son of Max Adler, wealthy vice president of Sears-Roebuck and Co., by an aunt of a 15-year old Milwaukee school girl. Relatives of the girl from whom young Adler had fled with a revolver in hand from whose anger he was protected by a policeman failed to appear in court.

Relatives were unwilling to press the charges against Adler. The judge continued a charge of carrying concealed weapons against him pending further investigations of the case. Since Adler fled from the home of the girl's aunt with her relatives and friends in pursuit, a police guard has been on duty at the Adler home.

BURLEIGH COUNTY ABOVE AVERAGE OF STATE IN PRODUCTION OF CORN

Burleigh county ranks fifth in corn production and 11th in population among the counties of the state, according to figures prepared for the Association of Commerce by D. T. Owens, who is an ardent booster of the future of this and adjoining counties in corn, cattle and hog raising business. Total production of corn in Burleigh county is given as follows: 1920, 710,976 bu.; 1921, 720,000 bu.; 1922, 750,000 bu. The 1920 acreage of corn in the county was 29,624 as compared to 72,036 of wheat and a total acreage of 246,154. The average yield of corn in the state for the last five years is given as follows: 1919, 33 bu.; 1920, 30 bu.; 1921, 28 bu.; 1922, 27 bushels an acre.

FEATURE CORN AT SLOPE FAIR OPENED TODAY

Main Exhibition Building Is Turned Into a Corn Palace At Exhibition

With corn featured as one of the great crops of southwestern North Dakota, the Missouri Slope Fair opened in Mandan today to continue for four days.

Nearly 200 prizes were offered in various classes for corn growers, and the main exhibition building was virtually turned into a corn palace. More than 1,000 exhibits were placed in it by noon.

Dairy livestock also is being featured. It is said the value of livestock exhibited is $500,000. Prospects were good for a large attendance the opening day in spite of the fact that farmers generally are in the midst of threshing.

BRIDE LEAVES NO. DAKOTAN

When E. L. Smith returned to his home in Minneapolis Saturday night he learned that his 21-year-old wife had disappeared, said a dispatch from Minneapolis, adding that Bismarck authorities had been wired to be on the lookout for her and a man who went to Minneapolis from Steele, N. D., about the same time that Smith and his bride went to the Minnesota city to live.

She left a note saying she was "sorry" of what had come out the way they have: "I cannot be happy." The couple only recently went to Minneapolis. Local authorities say they have received no information concerning the woman's disappearance.

PINCHOT TELLS CONFERENCE IT MUST SUCCEED

Governor of Pennsylvania Meets Participants in Effort To End Dispute

MINERS' HEAD ABSENT

John L. Lewis Is Represented by Vice-President and District Presidents

Harrisburg, Aug. 27.—Governor Pinchot of Pennsylvania assembled leaders of each side in the anthracite controversy around his office table today and told them bluntly that the proposed suspension of mining September 1 could not be allowed. Declaring the crisis now had been reached, Governor Pinchot asserted "we must do in this eleventh hour what should have been done before." "It can be done and must be done," he said. "There is still time. Let us use this time in an effective spirit of common counsel so that this common danger may pass, with due regard to the rights of all and with due credit and honor to all concerned."

With the exception of John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, all participants of the Atlantic City negotiations were here today. Philip Murray, vice president of the Union, was here in Mr. Lewis' absence with the three district presidents.

WATCHING OUTCOME

Washington, Aug. 27.—Government officials today were watching with profound confidence the outcome of efforts of Governor Pinchot in his conference with miners and operators' representatives at Harrisburg to find a basis for settlement in their dispute that will avert the threatened shut-down of anthracite mines September 1. Although the Pennsylvania executive, it was said, was proceeding with a free hand in the situation of affairs here were keeping in close touch with developments. The government not only has lent aid to the settlement efforts by supplying Governor Pinchot with various data gathered by the federal fuel agencies but is prepared, administration spokesmen said, to give stronger support to the minister if the force of figures yields no settlement. Despite the absence of any sign of a last minute recession of either side from its position on the demands presented by the miners officials here still believe that the self-interest of the parties to the dispute alone would be sufficient motive to bring about a settlement.

New York, Aug. 27.—Thirty-two million tons of high grade domestic sizes will be in the bins of consumers or in storage awaiting distribution by September 1, the date of the threatened suspension of mining the anthracite bureau of information estimated today.

This figure represents, roughly 45 percent of the 70 million tons of fresh mined anthracite consumed by the 48 states, Canada and Mexico each year. It represents 35 percent of a total annual production of ninety million tons, including coal used at the mines, sold to the government or to rail roads; or mined by the Hudson Coal Company, which does not publish data on its business.

Since April 1 the mines have far exceeded all records for production, according to the anthracite bureau. Since June 1 they have averaged 2,000,000 tons a week, or at the rate of $94,000,000 tons a year.

The northwestern group of coal using states and western Canada are considered in the most fortunate position in view of the possibility of a stoppage in production. Ten million tons have been shipped up the great lakes. Distributors believe this assures sufficient coal to all the commonwealths served by the lakes, including principals, hard coal using states, Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, and the Dakotas.

Impassively the men gathered around his council table listening to his words. They were Samuel Warner, A. B. Jessup, W. W. Inglis and W. J. Richards of the operators' policy committee, and Philip Murray, vice president, and C. J. Golden, Rinaldo Cappellari, and Thomas Kennedy, district president of the U. S. Mine Workers whose orders are on for closing down the mines Sept. 1. There was scarcely a sound to interrupt the governor as he read his address.

"In my opinion the wisest thing I can do is to deal separately with each side," he said. "To learn the basis for demand as fully as I can, I request you to give me these interviews."

"We will be glad to grant your request," Mr. Warrier responded. "The miners will also," said Mr. Murray. "Thank you gentlemen," Gov. Pinchot rejoined. "We'll adjourn then until 2 o'clock when the miners will come to my office," he said. Governor Pinchot declared he would treat each discussion as wholly confidential.

The franchise for operation of the street car line from the downtown section to the state capitol will expire before the city commission in the near future. A series of educational meetings will be held by the North Dakota Lignite Coal Operators Association in the state, probably the last week of September or first week in October, at the same time district meetings of the operators are held, according to James Milloy, of Minot, secretary of the association.

State officials, including Governor Nelson, Railroad Commissioner Chairman Milhollan, Commissioner of Agriculture Kitchen, President Coulter of the Agricultural College, Dean Babcock of the state university and Commissioner of Immigration Devine, will be invited to attend part or all of the meetings.

The purpose of the meetings, according to Mr. Milloy, is to reach business men with complete information as to the problems of the lignite coal industry so as to gain more general cooperation in its development. The operators' association, he added, was formed only for the purpose of developing the industry generally.

GRAND JURY ASKED SOON

Shafer Tells Plan After Conference With Bangs

Grand Forks, Aug. 27.—After a conference with George A. Bangs, special assistant attorney general, Attorney General George Shafer said today that a petition for a grand jury in Cass county to probe the alleged wrecking of the Scandinavian-American bank of Fargo would probably be presented to District Judge C. M. Cooley on or about September 1. This action has been made necessary by the action of District Judge George McKenna in dismissing indictments returned by the recent grand jury in Cass county.

1923 WHEAT FINE QUALITY

Some Yields of 12 to 15 Bushels an Acre Reported Near Here

Wheat delivered to the Russell-Miller Milling Company's elevator in Bismarck is generally of very fine quality, H. C. Björke, manager of the mill said today. The gluten content is reported unusually high not only in this vicinity but in other parts of the state. Most of the wheat, Mr. Björke said, graded from No. 1 to No. 3.

Practically all wheat delivered to the mill thus far has been early-sown wheat. Some yields of 12 to 15 bushels an acre of Marquis wheat have been reported. The average is expected to be less. The late-sown wheat will not come in much before September 1, it is expected.

JUDGE HOLDS BAR BOARD ACT TO BE VALID

Supreme Court May Appoint Members and Lawyers Fund May Be Used

The act of the 1923 legislature taking power of appointing members of the State Bar Board from the Governor and giving it to the supreme court is held constitutional, in a memorandum opinion of District Judge Fred Janssonius, made today. The court also held that the law of the legislature appropriating $10,000 from funds of the Bar Board to be used in the purchase and repair of books for the supreme court library was not unconstitutional.

The State Bar Board, composed of C. J. Fisk, S. E. Ellsworth and R. Goer, had obtained an order restraining E. J. Taylor, librarian; J. H. Newton, clerk of the supreme court, and the state auditor and treasurer from expending the money appropriated. The bar board fund is created from the annual license fee paid by lawyers.

Judge Janssonius found that since it is provided the supreme court shall appoint members of the Bar Board from lawyers of the Bar association the question naturally arises whether the district court has any jurisdiction in the matter. For the purpose of permitting the case to be finally decided, however, he put aside questions of jurisdiction.

The court held that the Bar Board is really an agency of the supreme court and therefore the constitutional provisions which prohibit appointive power being lodged in the supreme court does not obtain.

DR. GILMORE TO FT. BERTHOLD

Engaged in Work for Museum of the American Indian

Dr. M. R. Gilmore, former curator of the State Historical Society, has gone to the Fort Berthold Indian reservation, after stopping in Bismarck for a brief time on his return from McGregor, Iowa, where he has been an instructor in the summer school in Indian lore at the American School of Wild Life Protection. Dr. Gilmore's work on home economics of Indians on the Missouri river, which he is engaged in for the Museum of the American Indian, will carry him into many states along the Missouri river.

At Fort Berthold Dr. Gilmore will continue work he had already started while in the state. Among other things he will collect pottery articles of clothing and household decoration, dyestuffs and perfumes, and gather information about the home life of the Indians whom the first white men to ascend the Missouri river found living in villages and tilling cornfields along its banks.

FORKS FARMERS BUYING SHEEP

Grand Forks, N. D., Aug. 25.—Grand Forks county farmers are buying sheep in considerable numbers, according to D. B. Morris, county agent. The reason for this is the attractive prices which the animals bring and their value for cleaning up farms.

Slope Field Yields 30 Bu. To The Acre

With threshing just started, indications are that the wheat crop will be much better than expected, says A. P. Nyden of Hebron, writing to The Tribune. Herman Glasco, six miles north of Hebron, reported 20 bushels an acre average. Leo Reetz threshed 30 bushels of wheat to the acre on some ground.

"Not so bad," opines Mr. Nyden.

SHOOTING IN DUBLIN WHILE PEOPLE VOTE

Election of Members of Free State Parliament Is Being Held Today

MOTOR CAR ATTACKED
Two Cabinet Members Escape—Free State Forces Are Expecting Victory

Dublin, Aug. 27 (By the A. P.).—A lively outbreak of rifle and machine gun fire occurred in Dublin early today. The shooting was not explained.

Balloting in the Dail election proceeded with National troops patrolling the streets.

A motor car carrying James Crowley and the Minister of Fisheries Finian Lynch, both of whom are candidates of the government for Kerry, was attacked by a crowd while passing through Linlath yesterday. Shots were fired and one man was seriously injured.

Voting in the Dail elections began throughout the Irish Free State at 9 o'clock today with an electorate of more than 1,750,000 eligible to cast their ballots. Nearly 600,000 of this number are new voters, most of them being young and of both sexes.

The day is a public holiday and makes possible the closing of the polls at 7 o'clock.

In Dublin there are labor candidates of both the regular and Larkin wings. The Dublin sheriff does not expect to be able to announce any results before Tuesday night and possibly not even then unless all candidates waive formal comparison of all votes cast with voting papers issued. It is likely to be Wednesday night before Dublin returns are tabulated and delay in the scattered country constituency is expected to be even greater.

Supporters of the government party have shown increased confidence daily and it is now believed this group will constitute the largest bloc in the new house. The Republicans rely on the new vote to better showing made by them in the last election when they took 36 seats.

GEORGE JOHNS DROPS DEAD

George Johns of Mandan, 57, dropped dead this morning at 8:30 o'clock while on his way to the Northern Pacific railroad in Mandan to go out on his run as conductor on the home car.

Mr. Johns had been suffering with heart trouble, physicians having advised him that his heart was weak. He had been employed on the railroad for many years and was well known not only in Mandan and Bismarck but along the line where he worked while performing his duties on the railroad.

He leaves to mourn his death his wife and three children in addition to four brothers and one sister. Most of his brothers and sisters reside in Newcastle, Pa. Funeral services will be held in Bismarck Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The time of the services have not yet been decided upon.

HUNT MEN WHO SPREAD TERROR IN SAVANNAH

Trio Rides Through Negro Settlement Shooting Wildly—One Is Killed

Savannah, Ga., Aug. 27.—City and county officials were combing East Savannah, a negro settlement, in search of a number of white men in three automobiles who drove through the settlement and fired more than 100 shots into houses, killing one negro according to reports and wounding others.

No motive for the firing is known. The men appeared suddenly and commenced shooting without warning, it is said. County policemen were rushed to East Savannah but were able to learn very little from the terrified negroes other than that the men in the three automobiles were white.

MILLERAND SEES OWSLEY

Rambouillet, France, Aug. 27.—President Millerand today received the entire American Legion delegation headed by Col. Alvin M. Owsley at the presidential summer chateau. He chatted for a few minutes with each of the delegations and had a long private conversation with Owsley.

PLAN PROGRAM FOR CONGRESS TO AID FARMER

Representatives of Four States Gather in Minnesota City for Conference

ASK SPECIAL SESSION
Committee Probably Will Be Named to Carry Request to President at Washington

Wheaton, Minn., Aug. 27.—Representatives of the four grain growing midwest states gathered here today to prepare a program of agricultural legislation and to appoint a committee which will call upon President Coolidge with a view of urging him to call a special session of Congress for the purpose of enacting laws to aid agriculture.

The meeting is the crystallization of the price stabilization meetings held in North Dakota, and Minnesota the past two months and was called by F. V. Anderson, chairman of the voluntary state committee. The meetings were opened at 10 o'clock and will continue until late tonight.

Magnus Johnson, senator-elect from Minnesota, was scheduled to make the principal address of the meeting late this afternoon. Other speakers will include J. F. Reed, president of the Minnesota Farm Federation, Mr. Anderson and W. J. Murphy of Wheaton, one of the leaders in the organization of the price stabilization committee.

POLICE HALT ATTACK UPON RICH YOUTH

Chicago Threatens Son of Chicago Business Man, Accused by Girl's Relatives

Chicago, Aug. 27.—Police were on guard today at the home of Max Adler, vice-president of the Sears-Roebuck Company, whose 24-year-old son, Cyrus Adler, narrowly escaped harsh treatment at the hands of angry relatives of a 15-year-old girl he was charged with attacking.

Policeman Redman Gibbons waved his revolver threateningly at the crowd until a patrol wagon came with reinforcements and took the young man to the station. Young Adler, a few minutes before, had backed out of the home of the girl's aunt with his own revolver pointing at the girl's relatives, who chased him for three blocks.

The girl's aunt, with whom she had been on a visit from her home in Milwaukee, filed charges of carrying concealed weapons, contributing to the delinquency of a minor and statutory offense.

Saturday afternoon Adler called up the girl and Mrs. Lieberman asked him to come over. Fearing trouble, it is said, Adler carried along his revolver and narrowly escaped serious injury from the girl's relatives.

Last Wednesday the girl's aunt, Mrs. Julia Lieberman, told the police Adler and a girl invited the girl a friend, strangers to them, to take a ride in Adler's automobile. The girls accepted.

CHARGE DISMISSED. Chicago, Aug. 27.—Judge Samuel Trude today dismissed a serious charge made against Cyrus Adler, son of Max Adler, wealthy vice president of Sears-Roebuck and Co., by an aunt of 15-year old Milwaukee school girl.

Relatives of the girl from whom young Adler had fled with a revolver in hand from whose anger he was protected by a policeman failed to appear in court.

Relatives were unwilling to press the charges against Adler. The judge continued a charge of carrying concealed weapons against him pending further investigations of the case.

Since Adler fled from the home of the girl's aunt with her relatives and friends in pursuit, a police guard has been on duty at the Adler home.

FEATURE CORN AT SLOPE FAIR OPENED TODAY

Main Exhibition Building Is Turned Into a Corn Palace At Exhibition

With corn featured as one of the great crops of southwestern North Dakota, the Missouri Slope Fair opened in Mandan today to continue for four days.

Nearly 200 prizes were offered in various classes for corn growers, and the main exhibition building was virtually turned into a corn palace. More than 1,000 exhibits were placed in it by noon.

Dairy livestock also is being featured. It is said the value of livestock exhibited is $500,000.

Prospects were good for a large attendance the opening day in spite of the fact that farmers generally are in the midst of threshing.

BRIDE LEAVES NO. DAKOTAN

When E. L. Smith returned to his home in Minneapolis Saturday night he learned that his 31-year-old wife had disappeared, said a dispatch from Minneapolis, adding that Bismarck authorities had been wired to be on the lookout for her and a man who went to Minneapolis from Steele, N. D., about the same time that Smith and his bride went to the Minnesota city to live.

She left a note saying she was "sorry" things had turned out the way they have; I cannot be happy.

The couple only recently went to Minneapolis.

Local authorities say they have received no information concerning the woman's disappearance.

BURLEIGH COUNTY ABOVE AVERAGE OF STATE IN PRODUCTION OF CORN

Mr. Owen made a comparison of the value of wheat and corn production an acre in the state, for the years from 1917 to 1922. He figures:

1917, $16.00; 1918, $27.61; 1919, $16.63; 1920, $11.70; 1921, $7.22; 1922, $12.69.

For the same years he figured the value of corn production as follows per acre: 1917, $13.59; 1918, $24.70; 1919, $46.20; 1920, $17.28; 1921, $9.52; 1922, $13.75.

The comparison shows corn has all the best of it as a money producing crop. The values per acre of corn in the comparison does not take into account the value of stalks for fodder or value of cultivation to the land, it is added.

PINCHOT TELLS CONFERENCE IT MUST SUCCEED

Governor of Pennsylvania Meets Participants in Effort To End Dispute

MINERS' HEAD ABSENT

John L. Lewis Is Represented by Vice-President and District Presidents

Harrisburg, Aug. 27.—Governor Pinchot of Pennsylvania assembled leaders of each side in the anthracite controversy around his office table today and told them bluntly that the proposed suspension of mining September 1 could not be allowed.

Declaring the crisis now had been reached, Governor Pinchot asserted "we must do this in this eventful hour what should have been done before."

"It can be done and must be done," he said. "There is still time. Let us use this time in an effective spirit of common counsel so that this common danger may pass, with due regard to the rights of all and with due credit and honor to all concerned."

With the exception of John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, all participants of the Atlantic City negotiations were here today. Philip Murray, vice president of the union, was here in Mr. Lewis' absence with the three district presidents.

WATCHING OUTCOME. Washington, Aug. 27.—Government officials today were watching with profound confidence the outcome of efforts of Governor Pinchot in his conference with miners' and operators' representatives at Harrisburg to find a basis for settlement in their dispute that will avert the threatened shut-down of anthracite mines September 1.

Although the Pennsylvania executive, it was said, was proceeding with a free hand in the situation of affairs here were keeping in close touch with developments.

The government not only has lent aid to the settlement efforts by supplying Governor Pinchot with various data gathered by the federal fuel agencies but is prepared, administration spokesmen said, to give strong support to the mediator if the force of figures yields no settlement.

Despite the absence of any sign of a last minute recession of either side from its position on the demands presented by the miners officials here still believe that the self-interest of the parties to the dispute would be sufficient motive to bring about a settlement.

New York, Aug. 27.—Thirty two million tons of hard coal in domestic sizes will be in the bins of consumers or in storage awaiting distribution by September 1, the date of the threatened suspension of mining the anthracite bureau of information estimated today.

This figure represents, roughly, 45 percent of the 70 million tons of fresh mined anthracite consumed by the 48 states, Canada and Mexico each year. It represents 35 percent of a total annual production of ninety million tons, including coal used at the mines, sold to the government or to railroads, or mined by the Hudson Coal Company, which does not publish data on its business.

Since April 1 the mines have far exceeded all records for production, according to the anthracite bureau. Since June 1 they have averaged 2,000,000 tons a week, or at the rate of 164,000,000 tons a year.

The northwestern group of coal using states, and western Canada are considered in the most formidable position in view of the possibility of a stoppage in production. Ten million tons have been shipped up the great lakes. Distributors believe this assures sufficient coal to all the commonwealths served by the lakes, including principal hard coal using states, Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, and the Dakotas.

Impassively the men gathered around his council table listening to his words. They were Samuel W. Riner, A. J. Jessup, W. W. Inglis and W. J. Richards of the operators' policy committee, and Philip Murray, vice president, and C. J. Golden, Rinaldo Cappellini, and Thomas Kennedy, district president of the U. S. Mine Workers whose orders are out for closing down the mines Sept. 1. There was scarcely a sound to interrupt the governor as he read his address.

"In my opinion the wisest thing I can do is to deal separately with each side," he said.

"To learn the basis for demand as fully as I can, I request you to give me these interviews."

"We will be glad to grant your request," Mr. Warriner responded. "The miners will also," said Mr. Murray.

"Thank you gentlemen," Gov. Pinchot rejoined.

"We'll adjourn then until 2 o'clock when the miners will come to my office," he said.

Governor Pinchot declared he would treat each discussion as wholly confidential.

RAISERS OF CATTLE GAIN

Freight Rate Ruling of I. C. C. Held Their Benefit

The Interstate Commerce Commission has decided the proceedings relative to weight and charges to be applied in connection with shipments of mixed livestock, according to information to the state railroad commission. Heretofore the railroad companies have charged the highest minimum weight in connection with the highest rate applicable to any kind of stock in the car and under the new ruling the carriers can charge the minimum weight together with the rate applicable to any particular kind of stock in the car that will develop the greatest charge, or they may use the actual weight of the shipment at the rate for the highest classified kind of stock if charges thus computed are greater than as figured on minimum weights and rates, according to V. E. Smart, traffic expert of the commission. This will mean a distinct saving to many of the shippers in North Dakota, according to Mr. Smart. The railroad commission estimates a difference of $20 to $25 a car, because at the hearing before the Interstate Commerce Commission it was testified that 82 percent of all shipments at South St. Paul were mixed carloads.

SAWYER STAYS AS PHYSICIAN

Washington, Aug. 25.—A decision to retain Brigadier-General Charles E. Sawyer as physician to the President was announced today at the White House.

RUMOR PRICES TO BE RAISED

Aberdeen, S. D., Aug. 25.—In spite of rumors that persist in local circles that Standard Oil gasoline prices will be raised to 20 cents a gallon next Monday no such intimation that such would be the case had been received today at district offices of the company. Sixteen cents is the standard price here.

ARRIVE WITH SHOW CATTLE

H. H. Struts of Thompson, N. D., and the sons of R. E. Struts of Jamestown arrived at Mandan last evening with several cars of show cattle and sheep for the Missouri Slope fair.

H. H. and R. E. Struts will conduct a sale of registered polled Shorthorn cattle at the Mandan fair beginning August 30 at 10:30 a. m. Twenty head, eight bulls and 12 heifers and cows, will be offered for sale. The cattle are all full blood and registered with the state health certificate.

Bertsch Moves Into New Garage on Main

The work of remodeling the old Bismarck Motor garage on Broadway into two modern store buildings commenced this week when Chris Bertsch moved his stock of Studebaker automobiles and repair department into a fine new $18,000 garage building in the 500 block on Main street.

The new Bismarck Motor garage, home of the Studebaker car, is a large fire proof brick structure with an attractive front, a fine show room for the cars, and equipped with all the latest machinery for servicing cars. The ceiling is heavily reinforced to make possible the use of the latest machinery in lifting heavy cars that are being worked upon. In the rear of the show room are offices where the business of the firm is transacted.

The new garage gives the Bismarck Motor company much more commodious quarters, allowing the storage of about twenty-five cars.

About $10,000 will be spent into transforming the old garage building into two modern buildings, one forty foot front to be occupied by the Amnatt Cafe and the other forty-foot building to be occupied by some firm, not yet known.

The present buildings will be lengthened, the ceilings raised, the floors brought up to a level with the side walk, and attractive glass fronts put on the stores.

Close comparison will readily reveal to you why the good Maxwell has gone so far in public favor in such a short time. Its outstanding superiorities are apparent even to the casual observer.

DODGE BROTHERS ANNOUNCE IMPORTANT IMPROVEMENTS

Dodge Brothers have not simply brought out a complete new line of motor cars. They have done something infinitely wiser and better than that.

They have brought new beauty, new riding ease and new mechanical perfection to the product on which their reputation as builders has been founded.

They have built a better and a more desirable line of motor cars—yet basically and fundamentally the identity of their product remains the same.

The same sturdy engine is under the hood; the same dependable chassis, improved in numberless details, underlies the body.

But the rear springs—now underslung—have been materially lengthened. The wheelbase, too, is longer, and the combined result is a notable improvement in riding qualities.

Bodies of all types have been designed to give improved appearance, and greater comfort. Lower, longer, with deeper seats and more leg room, the lines of these new cars are low-slung and graceful—the interiors are comfortable and roomy.

New head lamps and fenders, especially designed by Dodge Brothers to conform with the general lines of the car—a long straight hood and cowl effect—longer and wider running boards—unusually wide doors—combination stop signal and tail lamp—and instruments attractively grouped on raised panel—are a few of the numerous body innovations common to all types.

Combining these features with important mechanical improvements too numerous and technical to enumerate here, it is not extravagant to predict a reception for these cars unprecedented in automotive annals.

SEES JOHNSON AS U. S. PRESIDENT

MRS. CORA THORSEN

BY NEA SERVICE
San Mateo, Calif., Aug. 27.—Hiram Johnson will be next president of the United States.

This according to Mrs. Cora Thorsen, a psychic medium and healer here.

Mrs. Thorsen is well known locally both as a predictor and for her healing work in the government veterans' hospital at Palo Alto, Calif. She bases her prophecy of Johnson's election upon a vision.

"I was standing in a large crowd, listening to a speech, she says.

Turned Toward Her
"The speaker, who had his back to me, was without his coat, but had on his hat.

"Suddenly he turned toward me, and I saw that it was President Harding.

"Then he left the platform and came toward me. When he reached a certain part of the crowd, he paused and taking off his hat, placed it upon the head of a man standing there. The man was Hiram Johnson.

ture some of the grain now in the shock may show some damage.

Threshing returns are coming in slowly. The earlier predictions of heavy damage to wheat are verified by the first threshing reports. The present wheat crop is of very fair milling quality and although lighter in weight than last year, is stronger in gluten.

Bad roads have delayed hauling of grain and receipts in the country have been moderately light.

Many farmers contemplate storing their grain and obtaining advances of money, feeling that the wheat prices may advance later. Every effort is being made by the country elevator companies to cooperate with the farmers and help them in every possible way.

At a number of points in Southern South Dakota and Southern Minnesota, some very good yields of barley and oats have been reported. In the Northern districts the damage to these crops has been very severe, although they did not suffer from the heat as much as wheat.

Corn has made slower progress the past week, but with warmer weather and no early frosts, the crop will be one of the best in a number of years, in yield as well as quality.

president, 'Coolidge has my coat.' 'Then I came to, and realized that I had not been asleep, but that this was a prophetic vision, such as I have had many times before.'"

Harding Reception
Among other prophecies which Mrs. Thorsen claims is that of having predicted in 1907 that Harding, then senator, would some day be president.

She was attending a reception being given in Washington, D. C., by Mrs. Harding, she says, when she announced Harding's coming elevation to the chief magistrate's office.

"Though Mrs. Harding merely laughingly remarked, 'You certainly know how to make people happy,' she never forgot the incident, declares Mrs. Thorsen. For, after Harding's nomination at the Chicago convention, Mrs. Thorsen received a note from Mrs. Harding, congratulating her upon her foresight, and asking if she still believed Harding would be president. To which Mrs. Thorsen replied yes.

In South Dakota and the Southern half of Minnesota most of the flax is cut, but in the Northern territory fields are exceedingly weedy. In the harvesting of this crop is proceeding slowly. Late flax is spotted and as previously reported, some places the bolls are not filling as well as desired. Not until about September 15th, will some of the late flax be out of danger of early frosts.

We have endeavored to make an estimate of the various crops, but owing to the spotted condition of the fields and the delays in harvesting and thresting, not enough reports have as yet been received to give us the desired information.

ENGLAND PLANS FOR OLYMPIAD

London, Aug. 27.—Britain has set out to win the next Olympiad and, if the trick is not pulled off, it will not be the fault of the English public in general which is giving its money to send a crack team to the games in 1924. It has been generally admitted that England has lost much of her athletic supremacy during the last decade, and to regain this a leading London newspaper has started a campaign for $200,000, the sum estimated as necessary to get together a team and send it to the Paris games next year.

The campaign has been on only three weeks, but the flood of small checks has been continuous, and many of the large English firms have sent in donations. Efforts already are being made to form the Olympic team, the training of which is to begin at once under the supervision of the best English coaches.

The first recruit to the team is Harold Abrahams, the Cambridge captain and star athlete, who has signed a contract to appear at the Olympiad.

MILLIONS AND MOVIES

Through the medium of slender strips of celluloid an actor appears simultaneously on thousands of screens in as many different towns. On the same evening, he entertains great armies of film fans who eagerly pay their money to see his performance.

So the movie star commands a king's ransom for a salary, and a fortune is spent profitably, to provide a proper background for his art. The movie multiplies personality—and earning power.

Advertising does the same thing for a merchant or manufacturer. In a single day it takes his message into thousands of homes—to tell folks why they should have his goods and how to get them. Advertising endows him with a thousand voices with which to tell his story.

But the value of advertising is by no means confined to the advertiser. It has a very definite value to you.

A glance through this paper enables you to sift out the things that interest you. Sitting in your easy chair you can compare values and prices. In a moment you can tell exactly where to go for what you want and how much to pay.

WHEAT TODAY IS IRREGULAR

Opening Bids Waver on the Chicago Board of Trade

Chicago, Aug. 27.—Wheat started with an irregular range today the market being almost featureless during the early dealings. The September delivery was relatively easy on some local commission house sellings. Weather over most of the wheat crop belt caused a little support and firmness of cable news also brought out some buying. Opening prices which vary from 3.8 cent decline to 3.4 cent advance with December $1.07 1/2 to $1.07 3/4 and May $1.12 1/2 to $1.12 3/4 were followed by a slight rise all around in the northwest market was responsible for a rise in values to above the previous announcements but as offerings increased, reactions set in carrying price to about Saturday levels. The close unchanged to about 1-2 cents higher with December $1.07 1-2 and May $1.12 5-8 to $1.12 3-4.

300 BANKERS TO CONSIDER FARMERS' AID

Meeting in Fargo Tomorrow
To Attract Bankers From Several States

Fargo, Aug. 27.—More than 300 bankers from six northwestern states have accepted invitations to attend a meeting of the ninth federal reserve district bankers here tomorrow for the purpose of determining what aid if any these representatives of the financial world can give to farmers in the present crisis arising from the low price of wheat, according to an announcement made today by F. A. Irish, local banker in charge of arrangements.

The meeting will be called to order, it is expected, by Former Governor L. B. Hagna, of Fargo. Many well known bankers of the Ninth Federal Reserve district will be called upon for addresses although the program is informal and the length of individual speeches limited.

"This will not be a price stabilization meeting," Mr. Irish declared. "It is a meeting of bankers to form some definite plan to aid farmers in the present wheat price difficulties."

Mr. Irish is acting member of North Dakota for the committee of agriculture of the American Bankers Association.

Representative bankers in Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, North Dakota and Montana will attend the meeting, Mr. Irish said.

MRS. JOHNSON LAID TO REST

Many Neighbors and Friends
Pay Last Tribute to Pioneer Woman

Many old friends and neighbors of Mrs. John A. Johnson of 208 W. Broadway paid their last tribute to her memory Saturday afternoon when funeral services were held at the family residence. Rev. E. F. Alfson delivered the address for the occasion, placing emphasis upon the character of the deceased who was a pioneer of Burleigh county and the mother of ten children, most of whom survive her.

During the service Henry Halverson sang "Asleep in Jesus" and "Abide With Me" while Mrs. Genevieve M. Hughes played the accompaniment.

The residence was crowded with mourning friends. An abundance of beautiful flowers that entirely buried the funeral bier bore mute testimony of the love and esteem felt for the deceased and her relatives.

Out of town relatives attending the services were Mrs. Wm. Wallace of Missoula, Mont., Mrs. Clark Crawford, Britten, and Mrs. R. John Bergquist of Underwood, only sister of Mrs. Johnson.

After the impressive funeral services at the home interment took place in Rosehill cemetery at Painted Woods. Acting as pallbearers were Ole Gradin, John Oberg Sr., Joseph Mann, and John Satterlund, all of Washburn, W. A. Simons, Baldwin, and L. Larson, Bismarck.

Dickinson Normal To Graduate Class Of 105 Thursday

Dickinson, Aug. 27.—Final plans for commencement exercises to be held during the coming week have been completed by members of the August division of the 1923 graduating class of the Dickinson State Normal school. The class numbers 64, making a total of 105 to receive their diplomas from the Slope school this year.

Commencement exercises will be held in the Elks' auditorium on Thursday evening, August 30. Miss Minnie J. Nielson, state superintendent of public instruction, will deliver the address. A member of the state board of administration will confer the diplomas. Pres. S. T. May of the Normal will preside.

Expect Many Bank Mergers

Consolidation of a number of banks in North Dakota within the next few months is expected by officials of the state banking department, the consolidation being made possible by an act of the last legislature. A half dozen tentative consolidation plans are now before the state banking department.

RESIGNS BANK POSITION
Dickinson, Aug. 27.—Val Koch, cashier of the Farmers State bank of South Dickinson since its establishment in 1919 this week tendered his resignation to the board of directors to take effect September 1. Mr. Koch leaves the bank to establish the Corner Grocery.

John Ndolski, editor of the Nord Dakota Herald, will be the new cashier of the Farmers State bank.

Refusal To Obey Order Near Fatal

Carrington, N. D., Aug. 25.—Thrusting his hand into his trouser's pocket, instead of "putting 'em up," as ordered by Chief of Police Brady of Carrington, cost Lewis Daniels, 42, transient, a bullet through his lung. Daniels, taken to a hospital here, is expected to recover.

Brady and Joseph McCreary, acting on word from Bordulac, sighted three men near the wye who had apparently slighted from a Northern Pacific train, and as a preliminary to searching the men and a suitcase one carried, gave the order to hold up their hands. Two complied. Officers now believe Daniels' act was due to slow thinking.

The three men said they thought they were being held up.

No charge has been lodged against them. Two were released and Daniels will be free to go, when he recovers, officers say.

Wins $2000.00 in The Fleisher Yarns Knitting Contest

Mrs. E. C. Wyman, Jamestown, R. I., won the first national prize of $2000 in The Fleisher Yarns Knitting Contest. Her sweater and scarf set not only has exquisite beauty, but is marked by ingenuity of stitch and originality of design.

The second national prize of $500 was won by Miss Elizabeth Potts, Santa Cruz, Cal., with a knitted dress of captivating charm.

The third national prize of $200 was won by Mrs. G. F. Greenwood, Philadelphia, Pa., with a robe deftly crocheted in a beautiful combination of shades and stitches.

Go to your Fleisher Yarn dealer's to see the full list of 147 State prize winners. Ask to be shown the Contest Bulletin, which gives the complete illustrated story of the Contest.

Also ask your Fleisher Yarn dealer for the free folder, which illustrates the national prize-winning garments, with full directions for making each, so that you can knit these exquisite garments for yourself.

The Fleisher Yarns Knitting Contest aroused tremendous interest and showed a notable development of a distinctive American art in knitting. From the 700 colors and kinds of The Fleisher Yarns, American women produced an infinite variety of garments, stitches and color combinations that demonstrated the wide range of usefulness of The Fleisher Yarns.

The Fleisher Yarns represent the highest achievement in yarn-making. A garment well made of The Fleisher Yarns is the finest piece of knit wear you can possess.

Always look for the Fleisher trademark on every ball of yarn you buy. It is a pledge of quality placed there for your protection.

Take Fence Posts For Fuel

Chilly weather has caused tourists camping in the tourist camp of the city to seek warmth in any manner possible.
It was discovered that about 20 fence posts along the Northern Pacific railroad right of way had been chopped up by tourists to provide fuel. Effort is to be made to stop the practice.

SPECIAL ELECTION TO NAME MAYOR OF OAKES
Oakes, N. D., Aug. 27.—S. D. Bergenthal, whose election as mayor of Oakes last spring has just been declared void because of election irregularities in a recent decision of the supreme court, has announced he will not appeal, and is expected to call a special election soon to name a mayor. No other office was affected in the contest.
The same procedure will be followed as in a regular election.
Mr. Bergenthal states he will not be a candidate for election, and no announcement as to other candidates has yet been made.

MRS. JOHNSON LAID TO REST

Many Neighbors and Friends Pay Last Tribute to Pioneer Woman

Many old friends and neighbors of Mrs. John A. Johnson of 208 W. Broadway paid their last tribute to her memory Saturday afternoon when funeral services were held at the family residence. Rev. E. F. Alfson delivered the address for the occasion, placing emphasis upon the character of the deceased who was a pioneer of Burleigh county and the mother of ten children, most of whom survive her.

During the service Henry Halverson sang, "Asleep in Jesus" and "Abide With Me" while Mrs. Genevieve M. Hughes played the accompaniment.

The residence was crowded with mourning friends. An abundance of beautiful flowers that entirely buried the funeral bier bore mute testimony of the love and esteem felt for the deceased and her relatives. Out of town relatives attending the services were Mrs. Wm. Wallace of Missoula, Mont., Mrs. Clark Crawford, Britten, and Mrs. R. John Bergquist of Underwood, only sister of Mrs. Johnson.

After the impressive funeral services at the home interment took place in Rosehill cemetery at Painted Woods. Acting as pallbearers were Ole Gradin, John Oberg Sr., Joseph Mann, and John Satterlund, all of Washburn, W. A. Simons, Baldwin, and L. Larson, Bismarck.

EXPECT MANY BANK MERGERS

Consolidation of a number of banks in North Dakota within the next few months is expected by officials of the state banking department, the consolidation being made possible by an act of the last legislature. A half dozen tentative consolidation plans are now before the state banking department.

RESIGNS BANK POSITION
Dickinson, Aug. 27.—Val Koch, cashier of the Farmers State bank of South Dickinson since its establishment in 1919 this week tendered his resignation to the board of directors to take effect September 1. Mr. Koch leaves the bank to establish the corner Grocery.
John Nadolski, editor of the Nord Dakota Herald, will be the new cashier of the Farmers State bank.

Refusal To Obey Order Near Fatal

Carrington, N. D., Aug. 25.—Thrusting his hand into his trouser's pocket, instead of "putting 'em up," as ordered by Chief of Police Brady of Carrington, cost Lewis Danielson, 42, transient, a bullet through his lung. Danielson, taken to a hospital here, is expected to recover.
Brady and Joseph McGreary, acting on word from Bordulac, sighted three men near the wye who had apparently alighted from a Northern Pacific train, and as a preliminary to searching the men and a suitcase one carried, gave the order to hold up their hands. Two complied. Officers now believe Danielson's act was due to slow thinking.
The three men said they thought they were being held up.
No charge has been lodged against them. Two were released and Danielson will be free to go, when he recovers, officers say.

"NIGHT RIDERS" OF THE YEAR 1923!

Here are some of the pilots selected by Uncle Sam to fly night mail planes from Chicago to Cheyenne, Wyo. Never before in aviation's history has such an attempt been made. Beacon lights will guide the men across the stretch. Left to right: E. L. Allison, H. T. Lewis, D. C. Smith, Frank Yager, Jack Knight and J. F. Moore. Other men who will fly in the air mail service at night are: R. G. Page, L. H. Garrison, W. C. Hopson and Captain White. These men are important links in the air mail service's proposed 30-hour New York-to-San Francisco service. Following a period of trial flights, Uncle Sam will institute a regular schedule.

SEES JOHNSON AS U. S. PRESIDENT

MRS. CORA THORSEN

By NEA Service

San Mateo, Calif., Aug. 27.—Hiram Johnson will be next president of the United States. This according to Mrs. Cora Thorsen, a psychic medium and healer here.

Mrs. Thorsen is well known locally both as a predictor and for her healing work in the government veterans' hospital at Palo Alto, Calif. She bases her prophecy of Johnson's election upon a vision.

"I was standing in a large crowd, listening to a speech, she says.

Turned Toward Her "The speaker, who had his back to me, was without his coat, but had on his hat.

"Suddenly he turned toward me, and I saw that it was President Harding.

"Then he left the platform and came toward me. When he reached a certain part of the crowd, he put it and taking off his hat, placed it upon the head of a man standing there. The man was Hiram Johnson.

"You wear my hat," said the president, 'Coolidge has my coat.' Then I came to, and realized that I had not been asleep, but that this was a prophetic vision, such as I have had many times before."

Harding Reception Among other prophecies which Mrs. Thorsen claims is that of having predicted in 1907 that Harding, then senator, would some day be president.

She was attending a reception being given in Washington, D. C., by Mrs. Harding, she says, when she announced Harding's coming elevation to the chief magistrate's office.

Though Mrs. Harding merely laughingly remarked, "You certainly know how to make people happy," she never forgot the incident, declares Mrs. Thorsen. For, after Harding's nomination at the Chicago convention, Mrs. Thorsen received a note from Mrs. Harding, congratulating her upon her foresight, and asking if she still believed Harding would be president. To which Mrs. Thorsen replied yes.

In South Dakota and the Southern half of Minnesota most of the flax is cut, but in the Northern territory fields are exceedingly woody. In the harvesting of this crop is spotted and as previously reported, some places the bolls are not filling as well as desired. Not until about September 15th, will some of the late flax be out of danger of early frosts.

We have endeavored to make an estimate of the various crops, but owing to the spotted condition of the fields and the delays in harvest-ture some of the grain now in the shock may show some damage.

Threshing returns are coming in slowly. The earlier predictions of heavy damage to wheat are verified by the first threshing reports. The present wheat crop is of very fair milting quality and although lighter in weight than last year, is stronger in gluten.

Bad roads have delayed hauling of grain and receipts in the country have been moderately light.

Many farmers contemplate storing their grain and obtaining advances of money, feeling that the wheat prices may advance later. Every effort is being made by the country elevator companies to cooperate with the farmers and help them in every possible way.

At a number of points in Southern South Dakota and Southern Minnesota, some very good yields of barley and oats have been reported. In the Northern districts the damage to these crops has been very severe, although they did not suffer from the heat as much as wheat.

Corr has made slower progress the past week, but with warmer weather and no early frosts, the crop will be one of the best in a number of years, in yield as well as quality.

ing and thresting, not enough reports have as yet been received to give us the desired information.

ENGLAND PLANS FOR OLYMPIAD

London, Aug. 27.—Britain has set out to win the next Olympiad and, if the trick is not pulled off, it will not be the fault of the English public in general which is giving its money to send a crack team to the games in 1924. It has been generally admitted that England has lost much of her athletic supremacy during the last decade, and to regain this a leading London newspaper has started a campaign for $200,000, the sum estimated as necessary to get together a team and send it to the Paris games next year.

The campaign has been on only three weeks, but the flood of small checks has been continuous, and many of the large English firms have sent in donations. Efforts already are being made to form the Olympic team, the training of which is to begin at once under the supervision of the best English coaches.

The first recruit to the team is Harold Abrahams, the Cambridge captain and star athlete, who has signed a contract to appear at the Olympiad.

MILLIONS AND MOVIES

Through the medium of slender strips of celluloid an actor appears simultaneously on thousands of screens in as many different towns. On the same evening, he entertains great armies of film fans who eagerly pay their money to see his performance.

So the movie star commands a king's ransom for a salary, and a fortune is spent profitably, to provide a proper background for his art. The movie multiplies personality—and earning power.

Advertising does the same thing for a merchant or manufacturer. In a single day it takes his message into thousands of homes—to tell folks why they should have his goods and how to get them. Advertising endows him with a thousand voices with which to tell his story.

But the value of advertising is by no means confined to the advertiser. It has a very definite value to you.

A glance through this paper enables you to sift out the things that interest you. Sitting in your easy chair you can compare values and prices. In a moment you can tell exactly where to go for what you want and how much to pay.

Figure how much useless walking and talking and how much actual money you can save by spending a few moments daily with the advertisements.

THE STATE'S OLDEST NEWSPAPER
(Established 1873)

JUST YANKEE SHREWDNESS

A. W. Mellon, secretary of the treasury, comes back from Europe with no academic ideas or plans for a world power or international supergovernment. His native keenness, foresight and hard common sense bring him to the natural conclusion that now is hardly an opportune time for the United States to intervene in European affairs only in-so-far as her advice unofficially may aid in solving some of the pressing economic problems.

With Yankee shrewdness he has analyzed the situation far better than Senators Hiram Johnson or Brookhart who came back barren of any constructive ideas. Senator Johnson of course was for keeping out of all deliberations while Brookhart wanted Russia recognized as one of the most enlightened of all governments.

Secretary Mellon in a very few words declares that before the United States can be of any service in solving the reparation issue, England and France must reach a common ground of agreement upon a policy to be followed toward Germany. In the three cornered controversy now raging, United States, he finds can be of little assistance and meddling might complicate matters.

There is something in the quiet, unassuming Secretary of the Treasury that instinctively inspires confidence. Seldom has there been attracted to public service a man who does his duty as he sees it unswayed by public clamor or political expediency. May his power grow and may his calibre increase in the public service of the land, for the times cry out for this kind of service.

OUR LIGNITE PRODUCTION

Eastern coal users who are menaced by the threat of an anthracite coal workers strike should try North Dakota lignite as a substitute. It is being used successfully by Twin City industries and in many cities of South Dakota. Once when some of the factories become equipped to use lignite properly they will find a great saving in costs. As the consumption increases more favorable freight rates will be secured.

Far more important than state mills and elevators and other enterprises of their kind, is an intelligent advertisement of the state's resources; its fine lands for dairy purposes, its clay deposits for brick and pottery and the inexhaustible deposits of the best lignite in the world.

Bringing the lignite possibilities before eastern consumers is a proper enterprise for the state, one that should mean greater production of this native coal.

Let the good work go on.

LABOR DAY CELEBRATION

Bismarck has been selected as the city in which to stage the annual Labor Day celebration for the Slope section. This city should make the celebration a success by cooperating in every way. Local merchants have responded generously to the committees for prizes to be awarded in the various events.

There will be many people from other portions of the Slope here to celebrate the national holiday. It is a fine thing to set apart one day to consider the needs and problems of labor. A closer understanding of the hopes and aspirations of the other fellow might solve many issues that now seem most vexatious.

Make the Bismarck celebration one long to be remembered. Hospitality to our guests of organized labor should be the keynote of the affair.

SPEEDING CHECKED

Sweden, determined to check auto speeders, passes a national law making it compulsory for all autos to be equipped with speedometers that will make a record showing how fast the car has been run. No arguments with the traffic cop then.

Unfortunately, after passing the law, the Swedish Riksdag discovers no such speedometer has been invented.

We'll have such devices in America eventually. Also, as autos approach the saturation point, we'll have to gear cars down so it will be impossible to run them more than, say, 20 miles an hour.

FIRE DANGERS

A schoolhouse burns down every day in America, on the average, warns Dr. George Drayton Strayer. Luckily, most of the fires are at night.

In educating children, we neglect the important item of teaching them the dangers of fires, how to extinguish fires and how to escape when trapped in one. This form of education should begin in the home. Drill into your children's minds, that fire is the most perilous force harnessed by man.

GLOOM CHASERS

Those pessimists who look through darkened glasses might find some cheer in these figures: Great Northern Railway earnings over six month period three million more than over corresponding period; Omaha road also reports an increase.
Quite a fair barometer of business.

SITUATION IMPROVING

Inside Germany, this interesting situation which speaks for itself: In 1913 Germany had 51,536 plants employing 2,033,000 men in metal transforming, chemical and mechanical construction. In 1921 she had 64,346 such factories, employing 2,432,000.

The situation is believed to have improved steadily since 1921. Indemnity or not, Germany has a good start at being the first European country out of the woods—barring, possibly, England, and that's doubtful.

Editorial Review

TOO MANY OFFICIALS

Taxes in this country will never be reduced until we abolish several thousand boards, commissions, regulatory bodies and other useless appendages and get back to earth once more. We are hiring and paying too many people to boss and supervise us and take daily care of us. As long as we continue to elect men to state and national legislative offices who will lend their aid to the creation of new offices and new jobs, we must expect to be taxed to pay the bill. The state and national payrolls are eating the taxpayers alive—and instead of improving, is continually getting worse. What are we going to do about it?—Pierce County Tribune.

LIGNITE A BLESSING

What a blessing that western North Dakota has lignite coal. The threatened anthracite coal strike on 8' pt. 1st puts on a serious aspect to those depending upon this coal for fuel. If the strike is not settled and the mines closed many will be short on fuel this winter and if the increase in wages is paid the miners and the operators will lose $2.00 a ton it means higher price coal for those depending upon it.

Here, where lignite coal abounds so abundantly, the fuel situation is the least of your worries. It can be purchased at the mines at a reasonable price and in many places can be had for the digging and stripping the ground from the coal—Carson Press.

ADVENTURE OF THE TWINS

By Olive Roberts Barton

"It's all the Pee Wee Landers are home again," said Nick to King Snookums, "I think we'd better be going back to the Fairy Queen's palace."

"Just wait a minute until I see," replied the tiny king.

So he called Mister Cogder and asked if all the noses had been counted that day.

"I'll go and see," answered Mister Cogder and soon came back with the word that one nose was missing, belonging to Billy Blinks. "And naturally," he added, "Billy was missing also, for Billy, like most people, had followed his nose."

"If you'll please find Billy for me," begged King Snookums, "I'll certainly be much obliged, for he lives with his Aunt Dinah Duster and she won't give me a minute's peace if he's lost."

"We'll find him," declared Nick. "We'll start right away and look everywhere. Don't worry any more."

King Snookums sighed with relief. Now he could take his afternoon nap in peace!

But Billy Blinks went to find Billy Blinks for his Aunt Dinah Duster.

As Pee Wee Landers are tiny, even when grown up, Pee Wee boys are still tiny. And Billy was small for his age. So he was likely to be most anywhere at all.

"I'm sure he hasn't left Pee Wee Land," said Mrs. Spider, who lived in a large web stretched between two burdock leaves. "I've watched every fly and bug that left Pee Wee Land today and not one of them had a passenger on his back."

"Then we'll look for him right here," stated Nancy.

But Billy Blinks wasn't anywhere, it seemed. They looked down every ant hill and behind every stone and under all the grass tangles and toad stools. But no Billy!

"Oh, dear!" cried his Aunt Dinah Duster, wiping her eyes on her apron. "If Billy would only come back, I wouldn't make him wipe his feet, or wash his neck with a scratchy cloth, or wear his shoes and stockings or anything."

"Honest!" came Billy's voice suddenly as if from the sky.

And there was Mister Billy grinning down at them from a dandelion puff where he had been hiding all the time.

I think he needed a good smack-in, don't you?

Seeks Creation Of Life Through Artificial Means

Berlin, Aug. 27.—Doctor Rhoda Erdmann, who was formerly connected with the laboratories of the Rockefeller Institute and Yale University, and was compelled by the war to give up her work there, is in charge of an institute for cell research which has lately been opened in the Institute for Cancer Research in connection with the Berlin University.

In 1919 Doctor Erdmann returned to Berlin and became a lecturer in the university. She also began investigation in the cultivation of tissues in continuation of the work done by Leo Loeb and others in the development of parts of the embryo removed from it under the microscope.

By degrees the work of Doctor Erdmann has progressed until it has now been officially inaugurated as a distinct institute. Doctor Erdmann has been helped by the American Emergency Society in financing and organizing her important work. She studied zoology under the late Professor Koch and is directing her investigations especially along lines followed by Professor Alexis Carrel.

About Time to Try a New Remedy

LETTER FROM RICHARD SUMMERS TO HIS FIANCEE, BEATRICE GRIMSHAW

DEAREST BEE:

I was not quite sure when I left you that I was doing right to come away out here and postpone our wedding for months and months. But, oh Bee, I am sure when you join me you will say this great western city and its environs is the loveliest spot on earth.

I am already greatly in love with Los Angeles, or rather Hollywood, for that is where you and I are going to live, my dear. I have been fortunate enough to find rooms in an apartment hotel which gives me a view of the mountains and here and there a shimmer of the distant sea. The air is perfectly glorious and of course the days are gold with their constant and much advertised sunshine.

I know you will not be jealous, dear, when I tell you that I have never seen so many beautiful girls in all my life. In fact, I think the women of all ages whom I have seen show beauty unsurpassed by the women of any other place or country where I have been.

Of course it is natural that beautiful young girls from everywhere should flock to this moving picture center, but I never imagined that you could go to a place where every girl was lovely until I came here. It is a peculiar kind of beauty. Regularity of features, beautiful hair, radiant eyes and exquisite mouth and over all the evanescent loveliness of youth.

One does not need to see more than that, does one? You must not often look for brains or souls; at least to my eyes these faces lack in many cases these things which make you so beautiful, my dear.

A man may love to look upon all these exquisite, creatures even when they are as soulless when you meet them face to face as they are upon the screen, but when a man thinks of his wife he wants something more.

I went with Arthur Thornton, who you know is my superior, to one of the big hotels the other night and met a number of girls who were in moving pictures. The most interesting one among them was a young woman who called herself Paula Perier. I'm sure that wasn't her real name. It is too musical to be true.

She told me she was from Albany and although she had only been out here a very short time, she already had a small part with one of the big stars. This girl had an understanding, if not a spirituality, which set her above the average crowd. I shall like to have you meet her when you come here, which I hope will be very soon.

I am almost mad at times with longing for you and only by working hard will I ever get through the next two or three months.

Your devoted,
DICK.

I. W. W. WON'T WORK AS PRISON GUESTS EITHER
Jamestown, N. D., Aug. 27.—Sheriff Ross of Stutsman county insists that two I. W. W. organizers in jail here, should work if they are going to eat, but still is not hard hearted enough to put them upon a bread and water diet. Since these two of his prisoners are rather stubborn, he has a problem on his hands. He reports moonshiners serving sentences are real good workers and get their three squares regular. He has just now nine "regular" boarders, some of whom will be with him for considerable time.

THE YELLOW SEVEN.
The Wisdom of Rabat-Pilai

NEA Service, Inc. 1923

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Monica Viney lives with her brother, Captain John Hewitt, Commissioner of Police at Jesselton, British North Borneo. Monica is engaged to marry Peter Pennington, who is detailed by the government to capture Chai-Hung, leader of The Yellow Seven, a gang of Chinese bandits. Pennington has as chief-of-staff, one Rabat-Pilai, who hates the bandit leader bitterly. Pennington suspects Van Daulen of the murder of Domberg, the Dutch manager at Kasih-ayer.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

Pennington sat bolt upright. "Look here, Van Daulen, you throw a pretty broad hint last night concerning the supposed inactivity of the police. Within eighteen hours of hearing from you that Domberg was dead and the sign of the Yellow Seven plastered on his bungalow, I've found the implements that were employed to make that sign. The darkness was not on our side, but yours."

The Dutchman left the rail and came a couple of paces nearer. "How do you make that out?"

"I have known for a considerable time that Chai-Hung was in the neighborhood and for ten days your boundaries have been patrolled by my own men. During the whole of that period not a single agent of the Yellow Seven has either entered or left."

"How long do you propose staying here?"

"Until the feller I'm looking for comes to find his paint."

"You still imagine he intends using it again?"

"He'd have burnt it if he didn't." The Dutchman forced a smile.

"Sincere we seem destined to be stable-companions for a considerable period, we'd better make the best of it. I don't mind telling you, Pennington, that you're on the wrong track. There's not a man on the place I wouldn't vouch for and the paint was probably intended for a blind. Whittaker and Vance share a place between here and Domberg's. They've both got Chinese servants; if Chai-Hung wants free access to the coast, they're as much in his way as I am—and there's a particular fine opportunity for killing two birds with one stone. If you were in the bandit's shoes, isn't that the first thing that would occur to you?"

"I think I shall stop here in any case. If ever I happen to be in need of somebody to teach me my business, I can't do better than to associate myself with one who can see things so well—from Chai-Hung's point of view."

The dark features of the Dutchman remained immobile, but Chinese Pennington saw enough to satisfy him that the shaft had gone home.

"You've placed me in a deuced awkward position," he complained presently. "Until I replace my late servant, I suppose I'm at liberty to fall back on yours?"

"Rabat-Pilai is entirely at your service."

The Dutchman picked up his riding-boots and moved off in search of his slippers.

Pennington—once more alone—smiled curiously at a huge moth that wheeled round the flame of the lamp. Between nine and ten Van Daulen went out, taking the path to the coolie-line. Half-an-hour later Rabat-Pilai crept on to the veranda and halted before Pennington's chair.

"Well?"

"Great Tuan, the Dutchman left the estate by the gate that faces the sea. He went some little distance into the forest to where a big tree stands alone. There was a hurricane-lamp hidden in the undergrowth. The Dutchman lit it and held it above his head. A man stole from the shadows and joined him."

Pennington stared at the ceiling. "What sort of man?"

"A Chinaman, Tuan. There was no word spoken between them. The stranger gave the Dutchman a little box—and went away again."

"One of Chai-Hung's men?"

"Yah, Tuan. He did not go far, because I had two of ours close at hand. They will keep him for you tomorrow."

"Excellent. What happened to the Tuan Van Daulen?"

"He took the box to a hut by the railway-line. It was dark when he entered; after that there was a light."

"You looked in?"

The man nodded.

"He came out of the hut several times, looking round everywhere. The door was bolted presently from the inside—and I looked through a place where the board had worked apart. There was a tube in the packet—a tube with some dark liquid inside."

Footsteps were audible on the path outside.

"That you, Van Daulen? I was just saying to Rabat-Pilai I could manage a cup of tea at five in the morning. I suppose you'll join me? If I remember rightly, you call the rail at five-thirty."

The Dutchman came into the radius of the lamplight.

"Not very often," he laughed easily. "Whittaker is our orderly officer this week. He rides round first thing to see everything's up to the mark."

"Breakfast about eight?"

"That's my usual arrangement."

"All right, Rabat; you can get to bed—unless Mr. Van Daulen wants you."

A chair creaked as the other dropped into it.

"No thanks. You know where to put my clothes for the morning. I like my boots here—by this chair."

He turned to Pennington. "I roam about in my slippers until my pony comes round, you know. I find it more comfortable."

Pennington waved his hand in the air, implying dismissal.

"Our boots on the veranda then. Tabi, Rabat-Pilai!"

"Tabi, Tuan."

The customary salutation carried the servant to the passage. He glanced back once—then vanished altogether.

"Queer chap—your man!"

"Rather weird, isn't he? He cut off Chai-Hung's left hand when last they met and walks the world with the step of a feller who's managed to pay off a fair proportion of a heavy debt. He smoked the thing over the fire and I fancy he smokes it about with him under his blouse."

Van Daulen shuddered.

Pennington came languidly to his feet.

"Good night, Van Daulen. Hope we're both well enough to sit up and enjoy the cup of tea."

Rabat-Pilai was dusting laboriously when Pennington—in riding breeches and slippers—emerged on to the veranda an easy first. Van Daulen was splashing in his room, grunting and spluttering with the glorious lack of restraint of a rhinoceros.

The man with the Chinese eyes kicked off his slippers.

His foot was on the point of entering the boot when Rabat dropped a pile of worn volumes.

Pennington started and looked up. The servant was signaling furiously, his mutilated face queerly contorted.

The Englishman raised his brows, took each heel gingerly between finger and thumb and from the left boot shook what looked like a tin-tacker with an enormous head. He was still staring at it when Rabat-Pilai picked it up without turning a hair. He retreated with it to Van Daulen's chair, grinning over the back of it at his master.

"Good Lord! It was touch and go that time, with a vengeance. The inhuman swine! Rabat, if I'd trodden on that how long would I have been in agony?"

All that was possible of the grin vanished as Van Daulen appeared at the head of the passage.

"Morning, Pennington. Hope I haven't kept you waiting?"

"Not in the least, old bird. I've always cherished a sort of hazy notion you planters were early folk! These boots, Rabat?"

"He pulled them on, me after the other, fully aware all the while that the Dutchman's eyes were upon him. Suddenly he uttered a sharp exclamation and sat back in the chair, his lips parted, his breath coming and going in short gasps."

"What's the matter, Pennington?"

"Nothing. Rabat-Pilai, you idiot, why didn't you knock down this confounded nail?" He fell forward burying his face in his hands, then jerked spasmodically.

The native-comprehending nothing—plucked a thorn from his belt. With a wild cry he sprang to a planter, who covered him with an automatic.

"Stop where you are, Rabat-Pilai. I'll deal with you later. Pennington, can you hear me? In half an hour from now it won't matter very much whether your friend in Jesselton finds fifty finger-prints on these brushes. I've a launch in the bay and a tong-kong standing off ready to take me to the Philippines. I killed Domberg. We'd loathed one another pretty heartily ever since we met and Domberg stood in Chai-Hung's way—and mine. It was Chai-Hung sent me to Jesselton—to get you here. Drop that knife, you black-skinned devil, and get over in the corner where I can see you." He reached down for his boots. He stamped his feet home—and the corners of Rabat-Pilai's mouth twitched.

A fellow like that of an angry bull shook the rafters and the automatic slipped to the floor. Pennington's fingers shot out and closed over the butt.

"Doesn't it occur to you, Van Daulen, that I'm taking a deuce of a long time drying?"

But the Dutchman was not listening. A sort of semi-paralysis seemed to have gripped him and he shrank rather than fell to the boards.

Pennington, springing to his feet, swung around on his servant.

"Rabat-Pilai, did you do this?" he demanded sternly.

The features of a hideous, battered idol confronted him.

"It was between my fingers when the Dutch Tuan came—and I dropped it."

"You're the most infernal liar that was ever created, Rabat!"

He fell to his knees by the side of Van Daulen.

"Run to Earth," the next episode of this gripping series, will start in our next issue.

Local Woman Wins Knitting Prize

Mrs. H. B. Neighbor of 209 Fifth Street was winner of the third state prize $25 offered in the recent national knitting contest held by the Fleisher Yarn Company of Philadelphia for the most beautiful hand knitted garments. Her prize winning entry was a scarf. Mrs. Laist received honorable mention for the child's sweater which she submitted.

Mrs. N. O. Berg of Fargo won the $100 state prize, having knitted a sweater and Mrs. James P. Kennedy of Grand Forks won second prize $50 for the infant's jacket and bonnet which she sent in.

The judges were editors of five leading women's magazines. The character of the different states was seen in the collection of garments sent in. Entries from New England states showed the Puritan influence still prevailing. There were many beautiful knitted rugs and afghans that closely resembled the old Colonial hood rugs; California and other Pacific coast states sent in garments as beautiful and colorful as the flowers and skies. The cold northern and western states sent in warm, practical garments; and those from the southern states showed much color and charm; in the southwest red and green predominated.

Find European Cities Much Like American

Mrs. F. H. H. and her sister, Mrs. Josephine Wagner have returned from Europe where they have been visiting for the past three and a half months. First they attended the jubilee exposition at Gothenburg, Sweden, their old home in Jonkoping, Sweden, Stockholm, and various other points in Sweden. They stopped at Christiania, Norway, in Denmark, visited London, England, and stopped at Cherbourg, France before returning. They said the beautiful mountain scenery of Scandinavia and the sight of the mid-night sun were both delightful parts of their trip.

Girls Find It Safe Touring Alone

It is not only the adults who tour the country but the youthful. Four campfire girls, between fourteen and sixteen years of age, stopped over in Bismarck this week on their way home to northern Michigan after spending two and a half months touring by automobile through the west, making the Yellowstone National park their destinations. The girls said that while they traveled alone, they had experienced no disagreeableness either from people or as a result of tire trouble. The girls said that they had enjoyed a pleasant trip, had found it necessary to change tires several times, but had experienced nothing further in automobile vicissitudes.

The girls are on their way home, expecting to arrive tonight to enter high school when it opens.

Open Passageway
A road under the north line N. P. track near Mandan, where work is proceeding on the underpass on the Bismarck-Mandan road, was to be opened today, it was said. The road has been very rough from the railroad into Mandan.

AUTUMN FROCKS ENTER WITH NEW TOUCHES IN DESIGN

Among many new fall models, here are two that are conspicuous for their charm. A yoke that slips off the shoulders only to be held by a narrow strap is the feature of one dress because of the unusual way it is set on the frock. Medieval sleeves droop below the finger tips to add another touch of individuality. The wrap-around skirt has become familiar, but a new treatment of it is shown in the second frock. A wide pleat and tailored buttons adapt this side fastening to severely tailored gowns. Wide sleeves are split to the elbow and edged with narrow ruffles.

In such slight touches as these, autumn fashions make their pre-season appearance.

AT THE MOVIES

THE ELTINGE.
Bebe Daniels and Antonio Moreno appearing in "The Eltinges" is the feature attraction at the Eltinge theater for today and tomorrow, Monday and Tuesday. Bebe's mother is authority that her daughter's much mispronounced name is Bee-Bee.

CAPITOL.
If you think you are thrill-proof or think your tear-well has gone proof, just take a trip up to the Capitol theater and sit through a showing of "The Village Blacksmith," the latest William Fox melodrama.

Will Walling, as the smithy, is a big strong, husky lad with a strong manly chest. He'd have to be to stand all the misfortune that drapes itself about his manly shoulders.

Tully Marshall gives a good and mean performance as the squire. Virginia Valli is good as the daughter. Ralph Yearlesley is sufficiently cowardly as the squire's son, but the best bit of acting in the picture is done by George Hackathorne as the cripple. Francis Ford, who used to be a dashing hero, is very good as a half-witted country lout who causes much of the trouble.

SCHOOL NEARS COMPLETION
Wildrose, N. D., Aug. 27.—The new schoolhouse at Wildrose is nearing completion, and according to present plans the term of 1923-1924 will start September 10th. The contractor says the work will be all done by that time. M. A. Rygh of Rock Lake, N. D. is superintendent of the school.

GIRLS! LEMONS BLEACH FRECKLES

Make this Lemon Cream and Just See Tan, Freckles. Disappear

Mix the juice of two lemons with three ounces of Orchard White, which any druggist will supply for a few cents, shake well in a bottle, and you have a whole quart-pint of the most wonderful freckle and tan cream, and complexion beautifier.

Massage this sweetly fragrant lemon cream into the face, neck, arms and hands each day and see how freckles and blemishes naturally bleach right out and how youthfully clear, soft and rosy-white the skin becomes.

Local Woman Wins Knitting Prize

Mrs. H. B. Neighbor of 909 Fifth Street was winner of the third state prize $25 offered in the recent national knitting contest held by the Fleisher Yarn Company of Philadelphia for the most beautiful hand-knitted garments. Her prize-winning entry was a scarf. Mrs. Laist received honorable mention for the child's sweater which she submitted.

Mrs. N. O. Berg of Fargo won the $100 state prize, having knitted a sweater and Mrs. James P. Kennedy of Grand Forks won second prize $50 for the infant's jacket and bonnet which she sent in.

The judges were editors of five leading women's magazines. The character of the different prizes was seen in the collection of garments sent in. Entries from New England states showed the Puritan influence still prevailing. There were many beautiful knitted rugs and afghans that closely resembled the old Colonial hooded rugs; California and other Pacific coast states sent in garments as beautiful and colorful as the flowers and skies. The cold northern and western states sent in warm, practical garments; and those from the southern states showed much color and charm; in the southwest red and green predominated.

Find European Cities Much Like American

Josephine Wagner has returned from Europe where they have been visiting for the past three and a half months. First they attended the Jubilee exposition at Gothenburg, Sweden, their old home in Stockholm, Sweden, and various other points in Sweden. They stopped at Christiania, Norway, in Denmark, visited London, England, and stopped at Cherbourg, France before returning. They said the beautiful mountain scenery of Scandinavia and the sight of the midnight sun were both delightful parts of their trip.

Girls Find It Safe Touring Alone

It is not only the adults who tour the country but the youthful. Four campfire girls, between fourteen and sixteen years of age, stopped over in Bismarck this week on their way home to northern Michigan after spending two and a half months in touring by automobile through the west, making the Yellowstone National park their destination.

The girls said that while they traveled alone, they had experienced no disagreeableness either from people or as a result of tire trouble. The girls said that they had enjoyed a pleasant trip, had found it necessary to change tires several times, but had experienced nothing further in automobile vicissitudes.

The girls are on their way home, expecting to arrive in time to enter high school when it opens.

AUTUMN FROCKS ENTER WITH NEW TOUCHES IN DESIGN

COPYRIGHT BY M. CALLS

Among many new fall models, here are two that are conspicuous for their charm.

A yoke that slips off the shoulders only to be held by a narrow strap is the feature of one dress because of the unusual way it is set on the neck. Medieval sleeves drop below the finger tips to add another touch of individuality.

The wrap-around skirt has become familiar, but a new treatment of it is shown in the second frock. A wide pleat and tailored buttons adapt this side fastening to severely tailored gowns. Wide sleeves are split to the elbow and edged with narrow ruffles.

In such slight touches as these, autumn fashions make their pre-season appearance.

AT THE MOVIES

THE ELTINGE.
Bebe Daniels and Antonio Moreno appearing in "The Exciters" is the feature attraction at the Eltinge theater for today and tomorrow, Monday and Tuesday. Bebe's mother is authority that her daughter's much mispronounced name is Bee-Bee.

CAPITOL.
If you think you are thrill-proof or think your tear-well has gone prohibition just take a trip up to the Capitol theater and sit through a showing of "The Village Blacksmith," the latest William Fox melodrama.

Will Walling, as the smithy, is a big, strong, husky lad with a strong, manly chest. He'd have to be to stand all the misfortune that drapes itself about his manly shoulders.

Tully Marshall gives a good and mean performance as the scire. Virginia Valli is good as the daughter. Ralph Yearnsley is sufficiently cowardly as the scire's son, but the best bit of acting in the picture is done by George Hackathorne as the scire. Francis Ford, who used to be a dashing hero, is very good as a half-witted country lout who causes much of the trouble.

SCHOOL NEARS COMPLETION

THE STATE'S OLDEST NEWSPAPER (Established 1873)

JUST YANKEE SHREWDNESS

A. W. Mellon, secretary of the treasury, comes back from Europe with no academic ideas or plans for a world power or international supergovernment. His native keenness, foresight and hard common sense bring him to the natural conclusion that now is hardly an opportune time for the United States to intervene in European affairs only in-so-far as her advice unofficially may aid in solving some of the pressing economic problems.

With Yankee shrewdness he has analyzed the situation far better than Senators Hiram Johnson or Brookhart who came back barren of any constructive ideas. Senator Johnson of course was for keeping out of all deliberations while Brookhart wanted Russia recognized as one of the most enlightened of all governments.

Secretary Mellon in a very few words declares that before the United States can be of any service in solving the reparation issue, England and France must reach a common ground of agreement upon a policy to be followed toward Germany. In the three cornered controversy now raging, United States, he finds can be of little assistance and meddling might complicate matters. There is something in the quiet, unassuming Secretary of the Treasury that instinctively inspires confidence. Seldom has there been attracted to public service a man who does his duty as he sees it unswayed by public clamor or political expediency. May his power grow and may his calibre increase in the public service of the land, for the times cry out for this kind of service.

OUR LIGNITE PRODUCTION

Eastern coal users who are menaced by the threat of an anthracite coal workers strike should try North Dakota lignite as a substitute. It is being used successfully by Twin City industries and in many cities of South Dakota. Once when some of the factories become equipped to use lignite properly they will find a great saving in costs. As the consumption increases more favorable freight rates will be secured.

Far more important than state mills and elevators and other enterprises of their kind, is an intelligent advertisement of the state's resources; its fine lands for dairy purposes, its clay deposits for brick and pottery and the inexhaustible deposits of the best lignite in the world.

Bringing the lignite possibilities before eastern consumers is a proper enterprise for the state, one that should mean greater production of this native coal.

Let the good work go on.

LABOR DAY CELEBRATION

Bismarck has been selected as the city in which to stage the annual Labor Day celebration for the Slope section. This city should make the celebration a success by cooperating in every way. Local merchants have responded generously to the committees for prizes to be awarded in the various events.

There will be many people from other portions of the Slope here to celebrate the national holiday. It is a fine thing to set apart one day to consider the needs and problems of labor. A closer understanding of the hopes and aspirations of the other fellow might solve many issues that now seem most vexatious.

Make the Bismarck celebration one long to be remembered. Hospitality to our guests of organized labor should be the keynote of the affair.

SPEEDING CHECKED

Sweden, determined to check auto speeders, passes a national law making it compulsory for all autos to be equipped with speedometers that will make a record showing how fast the car has been run. No arguments with the traffic cop then.

Unfortunately, after passing the law, the Swedish Riksdag discovers no such speedometer has been invented.

We'll have such devices in America eventually. Also, as autos approach the saturation point, we'll have to gear cars down so it will be impossible to run them more than, say, 20 miles an hour.

FIRE DANGERS

A schoolhouse burns down every day in America, on the average, warns Dr. George Drayton Strayer. Luckily, most of the fires are at night.

In educating children, we neglect the important item of teaching them the dangers of fires, how to extinguish fires and how to escape when trapped in one. This form of education should begin in the home. Drill into your children's minds, that fire is the most perilous force harnessed by man.

GLOOM CHASERS

Those pessimists who look through darkened glasses might find some cheer in these figures: Great Northern Railway earnings over six month period three million more than over corresponding period; Omaha road also reports an increase. Quite a fair barometer of business.

SITUATION IMPROVING

Inside Germany, this interesting situation which speaks for itself: In 1913 Germany had 51,536 plants employing 2,033,000 men in metal transforming, chemical and mechanical construction. In 1921 she had 64,346 such factories, employing 2,432,000.

The situation is believed to have improved steadily since 1921. Indemnity or not, Germany has a good start at being the first European country out of the woods—barring, possibly, England, and that's doubtful.

TOO MANY OFFICIALS

Taxes in this country will never be reduced until we abolish several thousand boards, commissions, regulatory bodies and other useless appendages and set back to earth once more. We are hiring and paying too many people to boss and supervise us and take daily care of us. As long as we continue to elect men to state and national legislative offices who will lend their aid to the creation of new offices and new jobs, we must expect to be taxed to pay the bill. The state and national payrolls are eating the taxpayers alive—and instead of improving, is continually getting worse. What are we going to do about it?—Pierce County Tribune.

LIGNITE A BLESSING

What a blessing that western North Dakota has lignite coal. The threatened anthracite coal strike on Sept. 1st puts on a serious aspect to those depending upon this coal for fuel. If the strike is not settled and the mines closed many will be short on fuel this winter and if the increase in wages is paid the miners and the operators raise coal $2.00 a ton it means higher price coal for those dependent upon it. Here, where lignite coal abounds so abundantly, the fuel situation is the least of your worries. It can be purchased at the mines at a reasonable price and in many places can be had for the digging or stripping the ground from the coal.—Carson Press.

ADVENTURE OF THE TWINS

By Olive Roberts Barton

"If all the Pee Wee Landers are home again," said Nick to King Snookums, "I think we'd better bug back to the Fairy Queen's palace." "Just wait a minute until I see," replied the tiny king. So he called Mister Codger and asked if all the noses had been counted that day. "I'll go and see," answered Mister Codger and soon came back with the word that all the noses were missing. "Well, start right away and look everywhere. Don't worry any more." King Snookums sighed with relief. Now he could take his afternoon nap in peace! So off went the Twins to find Billy Binkers for his Aunt Dinah Duster.

Pee Wee Landers are tiny, even when grown up, Pee Wee boys are still tinier. And Billy was small for his age. So he was likely to be most anywhere at all. "I'm sure he hasn't left Pee Wee Land," said Mrs. Spider, who lived in a large web stretched between two barlock leaves. "I've watched every fly and bug that left Pee Wee Land today and not one of them had messenger on his back."

"Then we'll look for him right here," stated Nancy. But Billy Binkers wasn't anywhere, it seemed. They looked down every ant hill and behind every stone and under all the grass tangles and dead stools. But no Billy!

"Oh, dear!" cried his Aunt Dinah Duster, wiping her eyes on her apron. "If Billy would only come back, I wouldn't make him wipe his feet, or wash his neck with a scratchy cloth, or wear his shoes and stockings or anything."

"Honest?" came Billy's voice suddenly as if from the sky. And there was Mister Billy grinning down at them from a dandelion petal where he had been hiding all the time.

"I think he needed a good smacking, don't you?" (To Be Continued.) (Copyright, 1933, NEA Service, Inc.)

Seeks Creation Of Life Through Artificial Means

Berlin, Aug. 27.—Doctor Rhoda Erdmann, who was formerly connected with the laboratories of the Rockefeller Institute and Yale University, and was compelled by the war to give up her work there in the investigation of the creation of primitive life by artificial means, is in charge of an institute for cell research which has lately been opened in the Institute for Cancer Research in connection with the Berlin University Infirmary. In 1919 Doctor Erdmann returned to Berlin and became a lecturer in the university. She also began investigation in the cultivation of tissues in continuation of the work done by Leo Loeb and others in the development of parts of the embryo removed from it under the microscope. By degrees the work of Doctor Erdmann has progressed until it has now been officially inaugurated as a distinct institute. Doctor Erdmann has been helped by the American Emergency Society in financing and organizing her important work. She studied zoology under the late Professor Koch and is directing her investigations especially along lines followed by Professor Alexis Carrel.

About Time to Try a New Remedy

LETTER FROM RICHARD SUMMERS TO HIS FIANCEE, BEATRICE GRIMSHAW DEAREST BEE:

I was not quite sure when I left you that I was doing right to come way out here and postpone our wedding for months and months. But, oh Bee, I am sure when you join me you will say this great western city and its environs is the loveliest spot on earth. One does not need to see more than that, does one? You must not often look for brains or souls; at least to my eyes these faces lack in many cases these things which make you so beautiful, my dear.

A man may love to look upon all these exquisite, creatures even when they are as soulless when you meet them face to face as they are upon the screen, but when a man thinks of his wife he wants something more. I went with Arthur Thornton, who you know is my superior, to one of the big hotels the other night and met a number of girls who were in moving pictures. The most interesting one among them was a young woman who called herself Paula Perier. I'm sure that wasn't her real name. It is too musical to be true, and she told me she was from Albany and although she had only been out here a very short time, she already had a small part with one of the big stars. This girl had an understanding, if not a spirituality, which set her above the average crowd. I shall like to have you meet her when you come here, which I hope will be very soon.

I am almost mad at times with longing for you and only by working hard will I ever get through the next two or three months. Your devoted, DICK.

THE YELLOW SEVEN

The Wisdom of Rabat-Pilai

By Edmund Snel.

NEA Service, Inc. 1223 BEGIN HERE TODAY

Monica Viney lives with her brother, Captain John Hewitt, Commissioner of Police at Jesselton, British North Borneo. Monica is engaged to marry Peter Pennington, who is detailed by the government to capture Chai-Hung, leader of The Yellow Seven, a gang of Chinese bandits. Pennington has as chief of staff, one Rabat-Pilai, who hates the bandit leader bitterly. Pennington suspects Van Daulen of the murder of Domberg, the Dutch manager at Kashi-ajer.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY Pennington sat bolt upright. "Look here, Van Daulen, you throw out a pretty broad hint last night concerning the supposed inactivity of the police. Within eighteen hours of hearing from you that Domberg was dead and the sign of the Yellow Seven plastered on his bungalow, I've found the implements that were employed to make that sign. The slackness was not on our side, but yours."

The Dutchman left the rail and came a couple of paces nearer. "How d'you make that out?" "I have known for a considerable time that Chai-Hung was in the neighborhood and for ten days your boundaries have been patrolled by my own men. During the whole of that period not a single agent of the Yellow Seven has either entered or left."

"How long do you propose staying here?" "Until the feller I'm looking for comes to find his point. You still imagine he intends using it again?" "He'd have burnt it if he didn't."

The Dutchman forced a smile. "Since we seem destined to be stable-companions for a considerable period, we'd better make the best of it. I don't mind telling you, Pennington, that you're on the wrong track. There's not a man on the place I wouldn't vote for and the point was probably intended for a blind. Whittaker and Vance share a place between here and Domberg's. They've both got Chinese servants; if Chai-Hung wants free access to the coast, they're as much in his way as I am—and there's a particular fine opportunity for killing two birds with one stone. If you were in the bandit's shoes—just that the first thing that would occur to you?"

"I think I shall stop here in any case. If ever I happen to be in need of somebody to teach me my business, I can't do better than to associate myself with one who can see things so well—from Chai-Hung's point of view."

The dark features of the Dutchman remained immobile, but Chinese Pennington saw enough to satisfy him that the shaft had gone home. "You've placed me in a deuced awkward position," he complained presently. "Until I replace my late servant, I suppose I'm at liberty to 'backstab you'?" "Rabat-Pilai is entirely at your service."

The Dutchman picked up his riding-boots and moved off in search of his slippers. Pennington—once more alone—smiled curiously at a huge moth that wheeled round the flame of the lamp. Between him and ten Van Daulen was now, taking the path to the coolie-lines. Half-an-hour later Rabat-Pilai crept on to the veranda and halted before Pennington's chair.

"Well?" "Great Tuan, the Dutchman left the estate by the gate that faces the sea. He went some little distance into the forest to where a big tree stands alone. There was a burial-camp hidden in the undergrowth. The Tuan Van Daulen lit it and held it above his head. A man stole from the shadows and joined him."

Pennington stared at the ceiling. "What sort of man?" "A Chinaman, Tuan. There was no word spoken between them. The stranger gave the Dutchman a little box—and went away again."

"One of Chai-Hung's men?" "Yah, Tuan. He did not go far, because I had two of ours close at hand. They will keep him for you tomorrow."

"Excellent. What happened to the Tuan Van Daulen?" "He took the box to a hut by the railway-line. It was dark when he entered; after that there was a light."

"You looked in?" "The man nodded. "He came out of the hut several times, looking round everywhere. The door was bolted presently from the inside—and I took a look through a place where the board had worked apart. There was a tube in the pocket—a tube with some dark liquid inside."

Footsteps were audible on the path outside. "That you, Van Daulen? I was just saying to Rabat-Pilai. I could manage a cup of tea. I'll join me in the morning. I suppose you'll join me?" "I remember, rightly, you call the roll at five-thirty."

The Dutchman came into the radius of the lamplight. "Not very often," he laughed easily. "Whittaker is our orderly officer this week. He rides round first thing to see everything's up to the mark."

"Still, tea at five, by all means." "Breakfast about eight?" "That's my usual arrangement." "All right, Rabat; you can get to bed—unless Mr. Van Daulen wants you."

A chair creaked as the other dropped into it. "No thanks. You know where to put my clothes for the morning. I like my boots served up this chair. He turned to Pennington. "I room about in my slippers until my pony comes round, you-know. I find it more comfortable."

Pennington waved his hand in the air, implying dismissal. "Our boots on the veranda then. Tabl, Rabat-Pilai!" "Tabl, Tuan."

The customary salutation carried the servant to the passage. He glanced back once—then vanished altogether. "Queer chap—your man!" "Rabat weird, isn't he? He cut off Chai-Hung's left hand when last they met and walks the world with the step of a feller who's managed to pay off a debt proportion of a heavy debt. He smoked the thing over the fire and I fancy he carried it about with him under his blouse."

Van Daulen shuddered. Pennington came languidly to his feet. "Good night, Van Daulen. Hope we're both well enough to sit up and enjoy that cup of tea."

Rabat-Pilai was waiting laboriously when Pennington in riding-breeches and slippers—emerged on to the veranda an easy first. Van Daulen was splashing in his room, grunting and spluttering with the glorious lack of restraint of a rhinoceros. The man with the Chinese eyes kicked off his slippers. His foot was on the point of entering the boot when Rabat dropped a pile of worn volumes. Pennington started and looked up. The servant was signaling furiously, his mutilated face queerly contorted. The Englishman raised his brows, took each heel gingerly between finger and thumb and from the left belt shook what looked like a tin-tack with an engraved message. He was still staring at it when Rabat-Pilai picked it up without turning a hair. He retreated with it to Van Daulen's chair, grinning over the back of it at his master.

"Good Lord! It was touch and go that time, with a vengeance. The inhuman swine! Rabat, if I'd trodden on that how long would I have been in agony?" All that was possible of the grin vanished as Van Daulen appeared at the head of the passage. "Morning, Pennington. Hope I haven't kept you waiting?" "Not in the least, old bird. I've always cherished a sort of hazy notion you planters were early folk! These are books, Rabat?" "Yah, my lord. One after the other, fully aware all the while that the Dutchman's eyes were upon him. Suddenly he uttered a sharp exclamation and sat back in the chair, his lips parted, his breath coming and going in short gasps. "What's the matter, Pennington?" "Nothing, Rabat-Pilai, you idiot, why didn't you knock down this confounded nail?" He fell forward burying his face in his hands, then jerking to the floor, where he lay, jerking spasmodically. The native—comprehending nothing—plucked a long knife from his belt. With a wild cry he sprang at the planter, who covered him with an automatic. "Stop where you are, Rabat-Pilai. I'll deal with you later. Pennington, can you hear me? In half an hour from now it won't matter very much whether your friend in Jesselton finds fifty finger-prints on those brushes. I've a launch in the bay and a long-kong standing off ready to take me to the Englishman. I killed Domberg. We'd loathed one another pretty heartily ever since we met and Domberg stood in Chai-Hung's way—and mine. It was Chai-Hung sent me to Jesselton—to get you here. SPORTS

GOLF TOURNEY HERE SEPT. 3 IS PLANNED

Medal Play, 36 Holes, Is Expected to Bring Out All of Local Golfers

A medal play golf tournament, in which it is expected that every golf player of the Bismarck Country Club will participate, it being planned for Labor Day, E. B. Cox, chairman of the golf committee, announced today. The play will be for 36 holes, handicaps will be allowed, and each player will have an opportunity to stand well up in the finals. A small entry fee will be charged to provide for prizes, under present plans. Details will be announced later.

A. S. Bolster eliminated Eric Thorberg, one up in 19 holes, in the hardest-fought match to date in the open golf championship of the Country club tournament. Both played exceptional golf. Thorberg turned in a 30 for his second nine holes. Bolster then eliminated Phil Meyer, three up and two to go, after Meyer had eliminated Dale Simon. C. W. Nichols eliminated Gordon V. Cox. Other matches will be played during the week and the finals probably will be played about Saturday.

PRISON TEAM IS VICTOR IN SUNDAY GAME

The prison baseball team defeated Washburn in an exciting game at the prison Sunday, 10 to 9, the prison team winning in the ninth inning. Both R. Wahl Washburn pitcher, and Tommy McGill, prison pitcher, were touched up lively at times, but Wahl was the victim of worse punishment than McGill. The latter was pulled in the ninth inning for Schuman. Muzzy caught for Washburn while Snyder was behind the bat for the prison team.

RED SOX GET NEW PLAYERS

Boston, Mass., Aug. 27.—Among new players who have been purchased by the Red Sox, conditional on their making good, are Pitchers Charles Ruffing from Danville of the Three I League, Lester Howe from Watertown of the Eastern League, The St. Louis Browns have an agreement to take the pick of the Danville team, but cancelled it when the price asked for Ruffing was considered too high. The Boston Braves announce the unconditional release of Frank (Bull) Miller, veteran pitcher, and optional release of Out-fielder Billy Bagwell to Worcester of the Eastern League. For a time early in the season Bagwell was one of the leading hitters of the National League.

Jack's Positive He'll Get Best Of Argentine

PANCHO VILLA, FLYWEIGHT CHAMPION OF THE WORLD, HAS ENTERED THE DEMPSEY STABLES AT WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS.

BY BOB DORMAN.

NEA Service Writer, White Sulphur Springs, Saratoga Lake, N. Y., Aug. 25.—It's a far different Dempsey one finds training here, from the Dempsey who a short time ago was conditioning himself at Great Falls, Mont., for his fight with Tom Gibbons.

Out in Montana Jack was a man who seemed to bear on his shoulders a secret worry. The old boyish tricks that were his distinguishing marks were conspicuous by their absence. His training was forced, a necessary evil, and one to which he did not take kindly.

He asked everyone he met who had seen Gibbons, numerous questions as to the challenger's ability, weight, etc.

He acted like a man not sure of himself.

But that Dempsey is gone.

Doesn't Fear Tommy Now.

The same old jolly, laughing Dempsey, is here. The Dempsey who has not a care in the world. The Dempsey who fears no man, and is willing to take them as they come.

"The fight with Gibbons was what I needed to put me on edge again," he says.

"I was slow in getting into my old shape. I wasn't timing my punching right, and the old judgment of distance was missing. And for a while I got soft. I feared that I wouldn't be able to go the route.

"I was worried, I'll admit.

"But that's past. While I didn't put Gibbons away, I know that as the fight with him went on, I could feel myself getting better and better.

Old Bravado Returns.

"I went the full distance, and at the end found that I was going stronger than at the beginning.

"Gibbons says that he will win the next time; that he knows how to fight me, and that he knows all the tricks I have.

"Well Tom doesn't want to forget that I know just as much about him as he does about me, and I feel certain that if there is another match between us, I will put him away.

"As for my coming fight with Firpo, I feel certain of the outcome.

"Of course, he must have a punch, or he couldn't have knocked out so many men, and any man with a punch is dangerous.

"But I know that I still have all my stuff, that I can go the distance, that my judgment of distance and timing of punches is what it used to be, so I am not worried.

"As long as I feel that I can give him the best I've got, there will be no kick on my part if he proves himself the better man.

"I went the full distance, and at that I haven't given my best."

stood at 23 yards and popped 95 targets. These scores of the winner and runner up were remarkable achievements from the 23 yard handicap mark.

J. S. Frink of Worthington, Minn., who stood at 23 yards last year at Atlantic City to win the 1922 grand American event with a score of 96 out of 100, today was placed at 23 yards, the scratch position, and puffed only 88 out of 100.

Gus Payne, Tulsa, Okla., stood at 23 yards and puffed 94 targets to tie three other shooters who stood three yards in front of him. They were Adam Fraumenholz, Chicago, E. Roush of Saskatchewan and Joe Dawson of Omaha.

TILDEN AND NORTON WIN

Brookline, Mass., Aug. 27.—The national tennis doubles championship Saturday was won by William T. Tilden, 11, Philadelphia, and his brilliant teammate Byron I. C. Norton, of South Africa. The mixed nation team defeated the American 1921 Davis cup team of R. N. Williams, 11, Byrn Mawr, Pa., and Watson Washburn, New York, in a five-set match, probably the most evenly contested of the tournament, which has been in progress at the Chestnut Hill courts of the Longwood Cricket club all week. The score was 3-6, 6-2, 5-7, 6-2.

It was a red letter day for Tilden, for with Mrs. Molla B. Mallory, he defended the mixed doubles championship. The champions defeated Miss Kathleen McKane, England, and John B. Hawkes, Australia, 6-3, 2-6, 10-8.

Mrs. Mallory, too, had a big day, for in the first of the series of championships she had vanquished Miss McKane in 25 minutes in the final of the Longwood women's singles tournament, 6-2, 6-1.

A. W. Myers, London and Samuel Hardy, New York, won the national veterans tennis doubles championship, defeating I. C.

WINS TRAP SHOOT AFTER MANY YEARS

Chicago, Aug. 27.—Mark Arie of Champaign, Ill., who is world champion at the traps until the 1924 Olympics, stood at 23 yards distance handicap and won the grand American handicap event with 96 out of 100 targets which ended the six days shooting program here.

For the past 18 years the corn state sharpshooter has tried to win the grand American handicap event, but he never actually won the "sportsman's desire." Back in 1917 Arie tied for the grand American crown with C. H. Larson with a score of 98 but Larson won the shoot off.

Second high winner in the grand American handicap event was Frank Hughes of Moberg, S. D., who also

OHIOAN OUT TO BREAK CHANNEL SWIM RECORD

By NEA Service Cleveland, Aug. 23.—Swimming the English Channel in 16 hours and 33 minutes.

Humph! What's that? Enrique Tinorobochi, from way down south in Argentina, did it just the other day.

So Carbis A. Walker sees absolutely no reason why he can't go Luis Angel Firpo's countryman one better.

Walker, you'll remember, recently swam Lake Erie. And he's the only white man who ever did, in so far as the books reveal.

Wants To Start Soon He made the 32 miles from Point Pelee Lighthouse on the Ontario shore to Lorain O., 35 miles northwest of here, in 20 hours and 15 minutes.

A couple of days later he was giving exhibitions in local amateur meets.

Carbis is on his way across the pond now. He expects to dive into the channel not later than the first week in September, while, as he puts it, the "water is still warm."

And that's his idea of a vacation! The trip is being financed by a group of Cleveland business men. Carbis wants to get back to his desk here around the middle of September. He's a civil engineer by profession.

Former Pupil of "Duke" But he's a regular duck. He's never satisfied unless he's trying to hang up some new aquatic record.

In his youth he spent considerable time in Honolulu. There he was an understudy of Duke Kahanomoka.

One time, over in Hawaii, he proved to folks that a apt pupil could do some things better than his teacher. That was when he defeated Duke in a 25-mile marathon.

For several seasons, Walker has been wearing the colors of Central Y. M. C. A. here.

"I'm just doing this stunt for the fun of it," he commented before leaving for New York.

But he'll probably get as much glory as fun out of his exploit.

And if he does, it will be just that much more power to Uncle Sam—athletically speaking.

Wright and J. W. Foster of Boston

6-2, 6-0. George Lott of Chicago defeated Edward G. Chandler of San Francisco, 6-3, 11-9, 7-5, in the final match for the national junior singles championship.

HIGH PRICED PAIR ENABLE GIANTS TO WIN

Brilliant Game Is Taken, 4 to 3, From the Chicago Cubs on Sunday

Chicago, Aug. 27.—Jack Bentley and Jimmy O'Connell, each knocked out a home run in the ninth inning of the New York Nationals game with the Chicago Cubs yesterday and won a brilliant game, 4 to 3. Bentley was the last man around the circuit and by the time he reached third base a crowd of several thousand fans was waiting to escort him home. Bentley and O'Connell cost the Giants $140,000 but as far as the fans were concerned they earned it.

The Giants came at an especially appropriate time as the Giants would have been even in games lost with the Cincinnati Reds if they dropped the contest.

Pittsburgh and Brooklyn played the only other game in the National League, the Pirates winning 9 to 2. The New York Americans were defeated by Cleveland 4 to 3.

The Detroit Americans beat the Washington Senators in Detroit, 5 to 4, in a 13-inning contest. Shocker pitched the St. Louis Americans to a decisive victory against Philadelphia, winning 4 to 1, and allowing only three hits, all singles. The Boston Red Sox won the second game of their present Chicago series from the Chicago White Sox, 5 to 4.

Kinks o' the Links

Has a player the right to send his own caddy to stand at the hole while he plays a stroke, the intent, of course, being to aid his sense of direction in trying to sink his putt?

A player always has such a right. The caddy, however, must stand motionless and in no way endeavor to influence the wind on the direction of the ball.

What are the official distances for computing par scores?

Holes up to 250 yards, par 3; 251 to 445 yards, par 4; 446 to 600 yards par 5; 601 yards and upward, par 6.

In playing a match under the Nassau system what is regarded as the proper number of holes to play, 9, 18 or 36?

All matches under the Nassau system are of 18 holes.

Puzzling Plays

How does the umpire judge a fair fly ball or a foul fly ball? Does he consider the position of the fielder, or does he judge the ball according to the relative position of the ball and the foul line. For instance, on these two plays what would have been the proper ruling?

The batsman hits a fly ball to left field, which the fielder was just able to reach after a great effort. When the ball struck his hands, both feet were in fair territory, but his hands were extended over the line into foul territory. Was the ball fair or foul?

On the other play a ball is hit to right field, and a high wind makes judging of a fly ball difficult. The fielder staggers under the fly and, when it finally touches his hands, his feet and body are in foul territory, but his hands are extending over the foul line into fair territory.

Is the ball fair or foul? THE INTERPRETATION.

In the first play the ball was foul, in the second it was fair.

The umpire, in judging a fair or foul fly ball, pays no attention to the player, but judges the play in accordance to the relative position of the ball and the foul line.

Mute Tries Out For Olympic Games

Hazen, Aug. 27.—Rolf Harnsen, mute athlete who has achieved nationwide honors in athletics, left last week for Chicago to try out with a number of candidates for American teams to be entered in the Olympic games to be held in Paris in the spring of 1924. He will be the guest of the Chicago Athletic club while in that city, all expenses connected with the trip are all borne by that institution.

ROSEGLENN WINS BALL TOURNEY

Minot, Aug. 27.—Roseglen won the Independent baseball championship of northwestern North Dakota by scoring a 11 to 8 victory over Des Lacs in the final and deciding game of the tournament staged yesterday at the local baseball park. The competing teams were Roseglen, Van Hook, Des Lacs and Tioga. Roseglen won the right to play in the finals by easily defeating Van Hook 9 to 1, while Des Lacs blanked Tioga 7 to 0, in the first game.

Election Held To Decide Increase

New England, Aug. 27.—Residents of New England special school district will today vote on the question of increasing the indebtedness from $12,000 to $26,650, the maximum allowed under the law. The levy last year was about $29,000. Proponents of the increase assert that it must be authorized to insure the retention of the high school department.

Injuries Prove Fatal To Youth

Dickinson, Aug. 27.—Injuries received ten days ago when he was kicked by a horse on the farm near South Heart, proved fatal for Johnny ten-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. E.

S. Malone. Johnny died at a local hospital Sunday, Aug. 19, a week after he had been rushed to Dickinson for treatment.

The accident occurred as the lad helped with the work about the farm.

As he approached the horse the animal wheeled and kicked him in the head, causing a severe concussion of the brain. He did not regain consciousness.

Funeral services were held from the Catholic church at South Heart, last Tuesday morning, Rev. Fr. M. Schmitt of Dickinson officiating. Interment was made in St. Patrick's cemetery here.

BELIEVER IN GARDEN PRODUCE.
 Wilton, Aug. 27.—Alvin Lange, who is making final proof on his homestead southwest of here, is a firm believer in gardening, instead of all wheat and small grain. Last year he realized $462 on his garden produce, selling seventy-one bushels of tomatoes and $116 worth of melons. Potatoes, corn and cabbage were also included.

RETURNS FROM SWEDEN.
 Wilton, Aug. 27.—John Engstrom, a pioneer of this section has just returned from a trip to Sweden. Conditions are none too prosperous in Europe, according to Mr. Engstrom. He said that the steamships to and from Europe were filled with American tourists.

TREE BLOOMS SECOND TIME THIS YEAR.
 Washburn, N. D., Aug. 27.—For a second time this season a choke cherry tree belonging to Mrs. C. E. Griffith, is in bloom. Early in the spring the tree blossomed, and later, the tree was laden with fruit which she picked not long ago. Damp weather is believed to be the cause of the second bloom.

100 PER CENT PROFIT ON MULE.
 Van Hook, N. D., Aug. 27.—The purchaser of a mule at an auction sale here last week made a good profit on the animal. Having paid twenty-five cents for it, the man resold it the same day for fifty cents.

SPECIAL ELECTION DRAWS TIE VOTE.
 Aneta, N. D., Aug. 27.—When a special election was held here last week for the purpose of allowing the school board to levy a five mill tax in excess of the legal limit for school purposes, only twenty-eight persons voted, and the vote was tied. The board will not either call another election or devise some other way of raising the funds.

Philadelphia, Aug. 27.—This year promises to be a banner one for falls throughout the country. More persons are seeking space to display their merchandise than for years and this is a good omen, say fair managers. August is the month in which falls really get under way. State fairs open in this month, and hold sway till the middle of November. Furthermore, a thousand other smaller fairs, in the form of county exhibitions, are also held from July till November. Farm reports from all over the states indicate good crops, and this is expected to result in farmers exhibiting excellent displays of vegetables, fruit and grain.

Among the earliest of state fairs are those of Missouri and Delaware. The former is scheduled August 18-25 and the latter the last week in August. Des Moines will stage the Iowa state show August 22-31.

September is the big month for the state expositions. Fairs are listed at New Jersey, New York, Kansas, Oregon, Montana, Kentucky, Illinois, California and Maine. California's big exposition at Sacramento, September 1-9, is enlisting attention throughout the country. Cantaloupes are sure to attract and hold interest, for that industry this year, it is estimated, has yielded farmers well over $7,000,000.

In the wheat belt Kansas will show its botanical crops September 15-21 at Hutchinson during the Great West State Fair. In the mining region, Montana will hold its annual exposition at Helena, September 25-29.

State fairs in the cotton belt are regarded as among the year's biggest festivals. Nashville is the scene of the Tennessee fair, September 17-22; Marion will see Georgia's exposition, October 17-27, while at Jackson the Mississippi fair will hold forth October 15-20.

Detroit will be the mecca for exhibitors at the Michigan state fair, August 31-September 9.

In the Grand Canyon section of the country, Phoenix will show the Arizona state prize goods November 12-17.

GRIMSON TO TELL BAR BODY OF DUTY OF ABSENTEES.

Langdon, N. D., Aug. 27.—G. Grimson, state's attorney of Cavalier county, prominent in the prosecution in the famous Martin Tabert case in Florida, has been invited to speak at the annual meeting of the National Bar association which meets in Minneapolis Aug. 27-30. He has been asked to discuss "The Duty of a State to Absentee Citizens." The invitation to speak on the particular subject assigned, came as the result of Mr. Grimson's intimate knowledge of southern penal conditions, it is stated.

NOTICE OF FORECLOSURE OF FARM LABORERS LIEN.

Notice is hereby given that default has been made in the condition of lien certain farm laborers lien, claimed by Fred J. Argast against Joseph Bullock, of the County of Burleigh, and State of North Dakota, which said lien was dated the 3rd day of November, 1922, and filed for record in the office of the Register of Deeds of Burleigh County, on the 9th day of November, 1922, and which lien was filed to secure the following indebtedness, to-wit: the sum of Eighty Dollars ($80.00). The default is of the following nature, to-wit: The payment of said lien; and that there is claimed to be due on the sum of the date of this notice the sum of Eighty Dollars ($80.00), for principal and interest, and that said farm laborers lien will be foreclosed by a sale of the grain covered by such lien, in the County of Burleigh and State of North Dakota at the hour of two o'clock P. M., on Tuesday, the 4th day of September, 1923, if personal property which will be sold to satisfy the said lien is described as follows, to-wit: a sufficient number of bushels of wheat to pay for said lien, and the costs of foreclosing same.

GOLF TOURNEY HERE SEPT. 3 IS PLANNED

Medal Play, 36 Holes, Is Expected to Bring Out All of Local Golfers

A medal play golf tournament, in which it is expected that every golf player of the Bismarck Country Club will participate, it being planned for Labor Day, E. B. Cox, chairman of the golf committee, announced today. The play will be for 36 holes, handicaps will be allowed, and each player will have an opportunity to stand with it up in the final. A small entry fee will be charged to provide for prizes, under present plans. Details will be announced later.

A. S. Bolster eliminated Eric Thorberg, one up in 19 holes, in the hard-fought match to date in the open golf championship of the Country club tournament. Both played excellent golf. Thorberg turned in a 50 for the second nine holes.

Bolster then eliminated Phil Meyer, three up and two to go, after Meyer had eliminated Dale Simon. C. W. Nichols eliminated Gordon V. C. Other matches will be played during the week and the finals probably will be played about Saturday.

PRISON TEAM IS VICTOR IN SUNDAY GAME

The prison baseball team defeated Washburn in a exciting game at the Washburn grounds, 10 to 9, the prison team winning in the ninth inning.

Both E. W. Washburn pitcher, and Tommy McGrill, prison pitcher, were touched up lively at times, but Washburn was the victim of worse support than McGrill. The latter was pulled in the ninth inning for Schiemann. Muzzy caught for Washburn while Snyder was behind the bat for the prison team.

RED SOX GET NEW PLAYERS

Boston, Mass., Aug. 27.—Among new players who have been purchased by the Red Sox, conditional on their making good, are Pitches Charles Ruffing from Danville of the Three I League, Lester Howe from Waterbury of the Eastern League. The St. Louis Browns had an agreement to take the pick of the Danville team, but cancelled it when the price asked for Ruffing was considered too high. The Boston Braves announced the unconditional release of Frank (Bull) Miller, veteran pitcher, and optional release of Outfielder Billy Bagwell to Worcester of the Eastern League. For a time early in the season Bagwell was one of the leading hitters of the National League.

Jack's Positive He'll Get Best Of Argentine

PANCHO VILLA, FLYWEIGHT CHAMPION OF THE WORLD, HAS ENTERED THE DEMPSEY STABLES AT WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS.

BY BOB DORMAN.

NEA Service Writer.
White Sulphur Springs, Saratoga Lake, N. Y., Aug. 25.—It's a far different Dempsey one finds training here, from the Dempsey who a short time ago was conditioning himself at Great Falls, Mont., for his fight with Tom Gibbons.

Out in Montana Jack was a man who seemed to bear on his shoulders a secret worry. The old boyish tricks that were his distinguishing marks were conspicuous by their absence. His training was forced, a necessary evil, and one to which he did not take kindly.

He asked everyone he met who had seen Gibbons, numerous questions as to the challenger's ability, weight, etc.

He acted like a man not sure of himself.

But that Dempsey is gone.

Doesn't Fear Tommy Now.
The same old jolly, laughing Dempsey, is here. The Dempsey who has not a care in the world. The Dempsey who fears no man, and is willing to take them as they come. The fight with Gibbons was what he needed to put me on edge again," he says.

"I was slow in getting into my old shape. I wasn't timing my punching right, and the old judgment of distance was missing. And for a while I got soft. I feared that I wouldn't be able to go the route.

"I was worried, I'll admit.

"But that's past. While I didn't put Gibbons away, I know that as the fight with him went on, I could feel myself getting better and better.

Old Bravado Returns.

"I went the full distance, and at the end found that I was going stronger than at the beginning. "Gibbons says that he will win the next time, that he knows how to fight me, and that he knows all the tricks I have.

"Well Tom doesn't want to forget that I know just as much about him as he does about me, and I feel certain that if there is another match between us, I will put him away.

"As for my coming fight with Elsie, I feel certain of the outcome. "Of course, he must have a punch, or he couldn't have knocked out so many men, and I feel that a punch is dangerous.

"But I know that I still have all my stuff, that I can go the distance, that my judgment of distance and timing of punches is what it used to be, so I am not worried. "As long as I feel that I can give him the best I've got, there will be no kick on my part if he proves himself the better man.

"I went the full distance, and at that I haven't given my best."

stood at 23 yards and popped 95 targets. These scores of the winner and runner up were remarkable achievements—from the 23-yard handicap mark.

J. S. Frink of Worthington, Minn., who stood at 23 yards last year at Atlantic City to win the 1922 grand American event with a score of 96 out of 100, today was placed at 23 yards, the scratch position, and puffed only 88 out of 100.

Gus Payne, Tulsa, Okla., stood at 23 yards and puffed 94 targets to tie three other shooters who stood three yards in front of him. They were Adam Frauenholz, Chicago, E. Roush of Saskatchewan and Joe Dawson of Omaha.

TILDEN AND NORTON WIN

Brookline, Mass., Aug. 27.—The national tennis doubles championship Saturday was won by William T. Tilden, 11, Philadelphia, and his brilliant teammate Byron I. C. Norton, of South Africa. The mixed nation team defeated the American 1921 Davis cup team of R. N. Williams, 11, Bryn Mawr, Pa., and Watson Washburn, New York, in a five-set match, probably the most evenly contested of the tournament, which has been in progress at the Chestnut Hill courts of the Longwood Cricket club all week. The score was 2-6, 6-2, 5-7, 6-2.

It was a red letter day for Tilden, for with Mrs. Mollie B. Mallory, he defended the mixed doubles championship. The champions defeated Miss Kathleen McKane, England, and John B. Hawkes, Australia, 6-3, 2-6, 10-8.

Mrs. Mallory, too, had a big day, for in the first of the series of championships she had vanquished Miss McKane in 25 minutes in the final of the Longwood women's singles tournament, 6-2, 6-1.

A. W. Myers, London and Samuel Hardy, New York, won the national veterans tennis doubles championship, defeating I. C.

OHIOAN OUT TO BREAK CHANNEL SWIM RECORD

By NEA Service
Cleveland, Aug. 25.—Swimming, the English Channel in 16 hours and 33 minutes.

Humph! What's that?
Enrique Tiarobbochi, from way down south in Argentina, did it just the other day.

So Carbis A. Walker sees absolutely no reason why he can't go Luis Angel Firpo's countryman one better.

Walker, you'll remember, recently swam Lake Erie. And he's the only white man who ever did, in so far as the books reveal.

Wants To Start Soon

He made the 32 miles from Point Pelce Lighthouse on the Ontario shore to Loran O. 35 miles northwest of here, in 20 hours and 15 minutes.

A couple of days later he was giving exhibitions in local amateur meet.

Carbis is on his way across the pond now. He expects to dive into the channel not later than the first week in September, while, as he puts it, the "water is still warm."

Wright and J. W. Foster of Boston 6-2, 6-0.

George Lott of Chicago defeated Edward G. Chandler of San Francisco, 6-3, 11-9, 7-5, in the final match for the national junior singles championship.

HIGH PRICED PAIR ENABLE GIANTS TO WIN

Brilliant Game Is Taken, 4 to 3, From the Chicago Cubs on Sunday

Chicago, Aug. 27.—Jack Bentley and Jimmy O'Connell, each knocked out a home run in the ninth inning of the New York Nationals game with the Chicago Cubs yesterday and won a brilliant game, 4 to 3. Bentley was the last man around the circuit and by the time he reached third base a crowd of several thousand fans was waiting to escort him home. Bentley and O'Connell cost the Giants $140,000 but as far as the fans were concerned they earned it and more. The runs came at an especially appropriate time as the Giants would have been even in games lost with the Cincinnati Reds if they dropped the contest.

Pittsburgh and Brooklyn played the only other game in the National League, the Pirates winning 9 to 2. The New York Americans were defeated by Cleveland 4 to 3.

The Detroit Americans beat the Washington Senators in Detroit 5 to 4, in a 10-inning contest. Shocker pitched the St. Louis Americans to a decisive victory against Philadelphia, winning 4 to 1, and allowing only three hits, all singles. The Boston Red Sox won the second game of their present Chicago series from the Chicago White Sox, 5 to 4.

Kinks-o' the Links

Has a player the right to send his own caddy to stand at the hole while he plays a stroke, the intent, of course, being to aid his sense of direction in trying to sink his putt?

A player always has such a right. The caddy, however, must stand motionless and in no way endeavor to influence the wind on the direction of the ball.

What are the official distances for computing par scores?
Holes up to 250 yards, par 3; 251 to 445 yards, par 4; 446 to 600 yards, par 5; 601 yards and upward, par 6.

In playing a match under the Nassau system what is regarded as the proper number of holes to play, 9, 18 or 36?

All matches under the Nassau system are of 18 holes.

Puzzling Plays

How does the umpire judge a fair fly ball or a foul fly ball? Does he consider the position of the fielder, or does he judge the ball according to the relative position of the ball and the foul line? For instance, on these two plays what would have been the proper ruling?

The batsman hits a fly ball to left field, which the fielder was just able to reach after a great effort. When the ball struck his hands, both feet were in fair territory, but his hands were extended over the line into foul territory. Was the ball fair or foul?

On the other play a ball is hit to right field, and a high wind makes judging of a fly ball difficult. The fielder staggers under the fly and, when it finally touches his hands, his feet and body are in foul territory, but his hands are extending over the foul line into fair territory. Is the ball fair or foul?

THE INTERPRETATION.

In the first play the ball was foul, in the second it was fair. The umpire, in judging a fair or foul fly ball, pays no attention to the player, but judges the play in accordance to the relative position of the ball and the foul line.

Mute Trys Out For Olympic Games

Hazen, Aug. 27.—Rolf Harmsen, mute athlete who has achieved nationwide honors in athletics, left last week for Chicago to try out with a number of candidates for American teams to be entered in the Olympic games to be held in Paris in the spring of 1924. He will be the guest of the Chicago Athletic club while in that city, all expenses connected with the trip are all borne by that institution.

ROSEGLIN WINS BALL TOURNEY

Minot, Aug. 27.—Roseglin won the Independent baseball championship, northwestern North Dakota by scoring a 11 to 8 victory over Des Lacs in the final and deciding game of the tournament staged yesterday at the local baseball park. The competing teams were Roseglin, Van Hook, Des Lacs and Tioga. Roseglin won the right to play in the finals by easily defeating Van Hook 9 to 1, while Des Lacs blanked Tioga 7 to 0, in the first game.

Election Held To Decide Increase

New England, Aug. 27.—Residents of New England Special school district will today vote on the question of increasing the indebtedness from $12,000 to $26,650, the maximum allowed under the law. The levy last year was about $29,000. Proponents of the increase assert that it must be authorized to insure the retention of the high school department.

Injuries Prove Fatal To Youth

Dickinson, Aug. 27.—Injuries received ten days ago when he was kicked by a horse on the farm near South Heart, proved fatal for Johnny ten-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. E.

S. Malone. Johnny died at a local hospital Sunday, Aug. 19, a week after he had been rushed to Dickinson for treatment.

The accident occurred as the lad helped with the work about the farm.

As he approached the horse the animal wheeled and kicked him in the head, causing a severe concussion of the brain. He did not regain consciousness.

Funeral services were held from the Catholic church at South Heart, last Tuesday morning, Rev. E. M. Schmitt of Dickinson officiating. Interment was made in St. Patrick's cemetery here.

WEST SHOWS PROSPERITY; NO DEPRESSION

Cigar Distributors Declare Entire Northwest Prosperous

HAVE BIG TRADE

Labor Shortage in Places Indicates Move Back to Normalcy

Many signs of improvement in business as well as farm products are seen by investigators in Minnesota and North Dakota according to an editorial in "Tobacco," a weekly trade review published in New York. Men engaged in the cigar business report that a big business is being done and that the entire northwest appears to have entirely recovered from a depression due to poor crops or after-war depression.

Seen in The Northwest
Westward the promise of better business commences to materialize. From St. Paul to Seattle many signs of improvement are seen. In Minnesota and the Dakotas, assurances of bigger trade are as good as wheat. Throughout the great Northwest, the harvest tells the story.

Persistently, for months, the country has been told of discouragement and disaster. Tillers of the soil were declared to be grimly pessimistic. According to reports, gloom beclouded agricultural districts. Farmers were depicted in attitudes of dejection, despair and revolt. Politicians, from different vantage points, saw red danger or blue ruin. Alarums announced that, since the war, prosperity had departed from the farm. However intended, such advertisements of trouble in rural regions did cause prices of farm products to go lower. Business of all kinds slowed down and decreased. Meanwhile, it rained. During the spring and early summer, the rainfall was unusual on parts of the wheat belt often affected by drought. The land obtained moisture enough to insure good crops. In many places this year, the yield is double the average. Not only the grain growers gained benefits. The cattlemen profited because of the weather. Instead of drying up as soon as summer came, the grass on the hillside and upland plains kept growing and remained green. For herds and flocks in the Northwest there was abundance of feed. Beef and wool were produced in larger quantities at less expense. Though prices of farm products are not so high now as they might be, farmers and stockmen because of increased production, will get a lot of money. In the Northwest, practically everywhere business conditions actually are much better than people in the East would infer from previous reports.

In Minneapolis and St. Paul, cigar distributors all are doing well now. The outlook is good. A big fall trade is anticipated. Jobbers are getting hurry up orders from country dealers who allowed stocks to become low. Retailers have begun to buy generously. Business in the Twin Cities is increasing. Shipments to Dakota points approach the record mark. Demand for cigars in Class C is growing. The evidence is in the show windows.

Wages are high. If they desire to work, men don't have to go far to find employment. In some localities, employers have been bidding against each other to get labor.

On the railways and on the highways, travel is heavy. How many people are taking vacation tours, motoring across the country, it would be hard to say. The wonderlands, the places of scenic grandeur, the spots where Nature is most freakish or magnificent, the National Parks have attracted visitors in record breaking numbers, this summer.

RUSSIA PLANS FARM FAIR FOR PEASANTS
Greatest Step Toward Diseminating Education Among People

FINE EXHIBITS

Moscow, Aug. 27.—Russia's most ambitious educational and exhibition undertaking since the revolution is scheduled to open the latter part of August at Moscow. It will be an exhibition of agriculture and machinery, with the participation of a number of foreign firms, principally German. Some American harvester machinery is also to be shown.

All of the buildings for the exposition have been newly constructed, their location constituting the largest building operation in Russia since the war. Including live stock barns there are nearly one hundred structures, mostly of wood, though some are of steel and concrete. Each of the various nations making up the United States of Russia will have its separate building. Some of them, particularly the Turkistan building, a model mosque in stucco, are architecturally beautiful. That of the Far East Republic states as an exhibit, the "glorious" task into futuristic architecture, and ends up by looking like a ship, it being symbolic of various types of structures encountered from the Polar regions of Siberia to Vladivostok.

Ten thousand workmen have been engaged in the operation since spring, and the site, a splendid bit of rolling ground on the Moscow river, will be green and colored with the fair opens. Twenty-five thousand peasants are to be brought to Moscow each five days from the provinces, at the government's expense, to attend the exposition. What amounts to a short course in scientific agriculture will be given these visitors. They will be shown also a new "model village," as contrasted with the old Russian village. In the old village there will be ikons and other religious symbols in the houses. In the new, no ikons, but electric lights.

For foreign visitors and exhibitors some of the downtown hotels are being taken over and remodeled. The foreign exhibits will be entirely separate from the Russian, a special section having been arranged for them.

FARMER LAST TO BE RADICAL

Secretary of Agriculture Wallace Discusses Views

Boston, Aug. 27.—The farmer is "the last man in the nation to lend himself to what we call radical administration in political and government matters," says Secretary of Agriculture Henry C. Wallace, in an article published in the Boston Transcript.

"But he is suffering from terribly adverse economic conditions. He is under the harrow and he is trying to find some way to get out. It is generally recognized now that the farmer is at the base of our national life; that we cannot have permanent national prosperity unless there is a fairly prosperous agriculture. We have had that fact driven home to us during the past two years. Consequently the great industrial east has very definite, selfish interest in doing what it can to restore prosperous conditions on the farm."

BARN BURNED EARLY SUNDAY

Cause of Blaze in Downtown Section Is Unknown

Fire discovered about 7 o'clock Sunday morning virtually destroyed a barn belonging to the Brady estate in the rear of the Hinckley residence on Thayer street. Only charred walls were left standing.

Cause of the fire is unknown, but it is believed a tramp went into the barn to sleep or some other person was in there. The sliding door had been closed the night before but the fact that it was not burned on the inside showed that it had been opened before the fire, the firemen said. A pop-corn machine in the barn and an old mattress were burned. There were no horses in it.

Colored People Held.
A colored woman giving her name as Rosa Wynn, a colored man known as Ralph Wilson and a woman known as Charles Moore, colored, were arrested on a charge of being drunk and disorderly. The first two named are newcomers to Mandan and Bismarck, and probably will be given suspended sentences on promise to leave town.

PLAN ROUND WORLD ROUTE

An Air Line Encircling Globe Seen by England

London, Aug. 27.—An Imperial air line stretching out to India and the Far East, and eventually encircling the earth, is foreshadowed by the Duke of Sutherland, Under-Secretary for Air in the British government. This airship scheme, upon which the cabinet is expected to give a decision shortly, is a far-reaching one, says the Duke, and it may be possible soon to fly to India in 72 hours. The new British Home Defense Air Force, the Under-Secretary said, would consist of not fewer than 500 airplanes. The purpose of this force would be to protect Britain against air attack by stronger air forces within striking distance of this country.

This is the only way to insure peace," said the Duke. "I don't wish anyone to think I am accusing any of our great and friendly neighbors of wishing us ill."

The Under-Secretary said great extensions and improvements were now being considered, especially in regard to the amalgamation of the various companies concerned in civil aviation and the employment of large sums of private capital, which he believed was the only way of attaining eventually commercial success without government assistance.

SEES ACTIVITY IN DAIRYING

Information of activity in the promotion of the dairy industry reaches State Dairy Commissioner W. F. Reynolds frequently. He now has under consideration an invitation to aid in the formation of a cow testing circuit near Fort Snelling, and has been informed that K. O. Holt of near Sherwood, Renville county, has purchased a fine dairy herd of ten Guernsey cows, three heifers and two calves.

U. S. MARINES MAKE RESCUES

Two Privates Save Lives of 14 Hawaiian Prisoners

Port-Au-Prince, Haiti, Aug. 27.—The initiative and courage of two privates of the Marine Corps saved the lives recently of 14 Hawaiian prisoners who were trapped in a blazing prison in the village of Croix des Bouquets. Official commendation of the two men in question, Melvin J. B. Griggs of Cincinnati, Ohio, and Russell M. Anderson of Ellsville, Mississippi, was forwarded to the Navy Department by Brig. Gen. John H. Russell, the American High Commissioner to Haiti, and by their brigade commander, Col. Theodore P. Kane.

The prison at Croix des Bouquets is constructed of heavy cement walls covered with a thatched roof. A spark from the prison kitchen ignited the roof, and the guards were successful in liberating the women prisoners. In the endeavor to release the fourteen men confined in separate quarters, the key became jammed in the lock, and efforts to break the lock with a stone by the native guards were unavailing.

Griggs and Anderson, riding in the vicinity, were attracted by the blaze and rushed to the spot. While Haitians dashed water against the blazing prison, the Americans broke through the wall of fire that blocked the prison door, and smashed the lock with an iron bar. They then entered the prison and dragged the half-suffocated prisoners to safety. Both men were slightly burned while risking their lives.

WOMAN SPY LANDS IN JAIL

Belgrade, Yugoslavia, Aug. 27.—If Danitza Androlitch had been content to do her spy work quietly and without ostentation she probably would still be at liberty, and still of use to her employers. But she must have tired of the lack of excitement attached to getting military information of Yugoslavia for the officers of a foreign power, and therefore, decided to live things up a bit by playing two hands at once.

Danitza is a Croatian woman, and the story from Agram, where she is now behind the bars, charged with spying for Italy, sets forth that, under the alias of Ida Birner, she appeared before the Serbian chief-of-staff of the Croatian capital and offered her services to secure and sell him Italian military information. The chief listened to her tale, but was not impressed. So little did he like Danitza that he detailed two of his men to watch the woman night and day until they got something on her.

Eventually it was reported to the chief that Danitza had sent out of the country, and to Italian agents, it was said, 12 military documents, each in a private code. Then she was arrested. So thorough was she in her work that she learned her codes by heart.

DAVIS IS OUT FOR COOLIDGE

Pittsburgh, Aug. 27.—"There is no man in the country better fitted for the 1924 Republican nomination for the presidency than Calvin Coolidge," declared Secretary of Labor James J. Davis in an interview here. Secretary Davis, who is director general of the Loyal Order of Moose, was the guest of honor at a reception given by western Pennsylvania Moose lodges.

GRAVES FUND OF LEGION IS NEAR $150,000

Indianapolis, Aug. 27.—A total of $146,879.99 has been raised for the American Legion Overseas Graves Endowment Fund, to provide perpetual decoration of graves of world war dead now resting in foreign soil. The 11,000 posts of the legion, the money being sent to Robert H. Tynan, national treasurer of the organization.

In the list of per capita contributions, West Virginia leads in the amount for members, having attained a percentage of nearly twice the quota set. The four next highest departments under this classification are Rhode Island, Maryland, Delaware, Connecticut, and Vermont. Twenty-five departments of the organization have exceeded the quota set. Contributions to the fund still come in, and it is expected that the goal of $200,000 will be reached before the annual convention of the legion, to be held in October.

BIRKENHEAD IS CRITICIZED

London, Aug. 27.—The Earl of Birkenhead has received little sympathy from the British press for the position in which he finds himself as a result of the first address of his American tour, delivered last Friday evening before the Institute of Politics at Williamstown.

In fact the press tends to heap coals upon the fire laid by Henry Breckenridge, assistant secretary of war under President Wilson. He criticized the Earl for remarks about Mr. Wilson.

HOODOO DAY IS OBSERVED BY KIWANIS

Members Divulge Their Pet Superstitions for Entertainment of Fellows

MR. CRAWFORD SPEAKS

Today was "Hoodoo Day" at the Kiwanis club luncheon, when each member revealed for the delectation of his auditors stories of his own personal, private superstitions and how he came to get the hoodoo. The members divulged in many interesting bits of personal history which, unfortunately, it was announced are not for publication.

L. F. Crawford, curator of the State Historical Society, delivered the principal speech at the luncheon, taking as his subject the "Needs, Aims and Purposes of the State Historical Society." Mr. Crawford appealed for a greater interest among the people of the state in the efforts of the historical society to preserve the lore of North Dakota, urged that relics of historical value be given to the society and emphasized that with changing conditions something which may be of little value now may be of great historical interest in twenty years.

Scott Cameron told some of the light lights of the recent Watertown convention, and Paul Wachter gave the life history of Jack Runyon on his birthday, divulging many facts not heretofore in the possession of fellow Kiwanians. Chairman of the day was Otto Bowman.

H. W. Gillette, trainmaster of the Northern Pacific at Jamestown, was a guest of the club.

FIRE CAUSES $85,000 LOSS

Lewistown, Idaho, Aug. 27.—Fire of unknown origin yesterday destroyed part of the business district of Cul De Sac, 20 miles east of here, causing an estimated loss of $85,000 with $10,000 insurance. The fire started in the Cul De Sac hotel and wiped out two blocks on two sides of the main street. Seventeen business concerns, all in frame buildings, and four residences, were burned to the ground.

FIRE MARSHALS IN CONVENTION

St. Paul, Aug. 27.—Discussion of proposed legislation to prohibit interstate transportation of inflammable motion picture films will be one of the outstanding features of the National Fire Marshal's Convention of America, which opened today. Delegates from the United States and Canada attended.
